Gain Shown In State Receipts

Despite a noticeable decrease in number of employes and general expenditures, the receipts for the department of agriculture show a decided increase for January and February over last year, according to figures compiled by Acting Secretary J. W. Mayer. Part of this spread is due, Mr. Mayer believes, to the open winter which has brought more gasoline into the state, and partly to people generally taking out hunting licenses early, in order to get a full year's use out of them.

Department salaries for the two months were $10,523 and $10,891 in 1922, and $8,585 and $7,134 this year. Total receipts for the first two months last year were $41,049 and $62,759, and $50,257 and $79,482 in 1923. This included $17,208 in oil fees which were held up in the courts for some time, and credited to the latter month.

Inspectors' expenses were $4,511 in February 1922, and had dropped to $2,563 in the same month this year For the same months, inspectors' expenses in the animal industry bureau, which was minus an appropriation, dropped from $1,246 to $289.

CANNOT COLLECT LARGE JUDGMENT

Big Potash Damage Case Decided in Favor of Krause Brothers.

Man Convicted of Burglary May Be Paroled After Serving One Year.

The $75,000 judgment obtained in the district court of fDouglas county by Peter J. Long and his wife, Anna Long, against Herman J. Krause and John H. Krause is null and void and cannot be collected, according to an opinion rendered Monday morning in which it affirms a judgment of the district court of Sheridan county. The last named tribunal found that the judgment had been obtained by fraud and false testimony and enjoined Long and his wife from proceeding to collect it.

The entire transaction grew out o the boom on potash which existed during the war, the record showing that in 1915 the Longs sold to the Kraus brothers their Sheridan county ranch for a consideration of $8,000, receiving a deed for the land, upon which existed a 200-acre potash lake. Two years later they brought suit in the Douglas county district court asking damages and alleging that they were unaware at the time of the sale of the potash contents of the lake, while this was known to the defendants. They were given judgment for $75,000.

More than two years later the Krauses brought suit in Sheridan county to enjoin the enforcement of the judgment, which they alleged had been obtained by conspiracy and fraud. They asserted that the Longs did know of the existence of potash and that they had obtained more for their land than they had a short time before offered to sell it for.

The district court found that the Longs had not been deceived and enjoined the collection of the judgment. This finding is now approved in an opinion written by Justice Good.

Sentence Is Reduced.

John Seaton, convicted of burglary in Otoe county and sentenced to from five to ten years in the penitentiary, has had his sentence reduced by the high tribunal to from one to ten years. At the time the crime was committed, May, 1920, the old indeterminate sentence law was in effect and this did not allow the court to fix the minimum sentence at a greater period than the minimum set out in the statute for th offense. The new law, which was effective at the time of trial, allows the judge o make the minimum any period, so it is less than the maximum. The trial judge sentenced under this act and the court holds that this was wrong, it being in violation of the substantial right of parole, of which the court cannot deprive the defendant.

The supreme court has held that witnesses in the trial of one charged with being drunk may testify that he defendant was intoxicated. This holding was in the case of Verne Howard, convicted of this offense in the district court of Pawnee county. In his trial a number of witnesses testified that he was intoxicated and he carried the case to the high tribunal, contending that the lower court erred in admitting the testimony, which was merely the conclusion of the witnesses. The high bench says that a witness may estify from observation whether a person was drunk, giving the details and then stating the ultimate fact. Howard was sentenced to forty-five days in the county jail, but the court says that the ends of justice will be subserved by a lighter sentence and cuts it to thirty days.

Apparently due to high freight rates, increasing number of stock buyers are driving livestock overland to the Omaha market. Statistics compiled by J. W. Mayer, acting secretary of agriculture, show a big gain in this method, the figures being for February 1923 and the same month last year:

Cattle	3,335	2,242
Calves	1,293	566
Hogs	27,581	21,358
Sheep	34,434	12,254
Horses and mules	79	107

PUTS BLAME ON BOTH MEN

Gallagher Introduces Resolution in House Recommending Ouster of Both Architect Goodhue and Engineer Johnson

GOES OVER FOR A DAY ON MEAR'S OBJECTION

Commission is to Hold Another Meeting On Wednesday to Consider Evidence Taken at Recent Hearing

Both Architect B. G. Goodhue and State Engineer George Johnson are blamed for the use of inferior stone in the new state capitol building, and the removal of both men is demanded in a resolution presented in the lower branch of the legislature Monday by Representative Donald Gallagher, republican member from Holt county. On objetion by Mr. Mears and others it was laid over for one day as the rules provide.

Mr. Gallagher stated to The Star that when he was at home a few days ago the people were talking more about the new capitol and the alleged failure of those in charge to secure the quality of stone called for by the specifications and contract, than any other subject. His resolution declares that the defects in the material being used are plain to any observer.

The capitol commission is to hold another meeting Wednesday and consider the situation further. It has not yet made any findings as to the kind of stone furnished.

Following is the text or the Gallagher resolution, which is evidently intended to prevent a "whitewash" as the outcome of the inquiry:

"Whereas, the stone used in constructing the outer wall of the new capitol is obviously and unquestionably imperfect, and

"Whereas, the people of the state of Nebraska who are paying for this building are intensely interested in seeing the building constructed in as nearly a perfect manner as possible, and furthermore,

"Whereas, Architect Goodhue, who is drawing $25,000 per year from the state of Nebraska and spending most of his time in New York, and Engineer Johnson are equally to blame insofar as constructing the building of imperfect stone, the former because he originally recommended the stone, the latter because he passed on the stone before it went into the building, and

"Whereas, the negligence of these two men is certain to result in either a great financial loss to the state of Nebraska, or in a building built of poor material, therefore be it

"Resolved that we, the members of this house, as representatives of the taxpayers of the state of Nebraska, recommend the securing of two men to take their places, who will stay on the job and conscientiously look after the interests of the people of this state in the highly important task of constructing the new state house."

Gain Shown In State Receipts

Despite a noticeable decrease in number of employes and general expenditures, the receipts for the department of agriculture show a decided increase for January and February over last year, according to figures compiled by Acting Secretary J. W. Mayer. Part of this spread is due, Mr. Mayer believes, to the open winter which has brought more gasoline into the state, and partly to people generally taking out hunting licenses early, in order to get a full year's use out of them.

Department salaries for the two months were $10,523 and $10,891 in 1922, and $8,585 and $7,134 this year. Total receipts for the first two months last year were $41,049 and $62,759, and $59,257 and $79,482 in 1923. This included $17,208 in oil fees which were held up in the courts for some time, and credited to the latter month.

Inspectors' expenses were $4,514 in February 1922, and had dropped to $2,563 in the same month this year For the same months, inspectors' expenses in the animal industry bureau, which was minus an appropriation, dropped from $1,246 to $289.

CANNOT COLLECT LARGE JUDGMENT

Big Potash Damage Case Decided in Favor of Krause Brothers.

Man Convicted of Burglary May Be Paroled After Serving One Year.

The $75,000 judgment obtained in the district court of fDouglas county by Peter J. Long and his wife, Anna Long, against Herman J. Krause and John H. Krause is null and void and cannot be collected, according to a opinion rendered Monday morning in which it affirms a judgment of the district court of Sheridan county. The last named tribunal found that the judgment had been obtained by fraud and false testimony and enjoined Long and his wife from proceeding to collect it.

The entire transaction grew out o the boom on potash which existed during the war, the record showing that in 1915 the Longs sold to the Kraus brothers their Sheridan county ranch for a consideration of $8,000, receiving a deed for the land, upon which existed a 200-acre potash lake. Two years later they brought suit in the Douglas county district court asking damages and alleging that they were unaware at the time of the sale of the potash contents of the lake, while this was known to the defendants. They were given judgment for $75,000.

More than two years later the Krauses brought suit in Sheridan county to enjoin the enforcement of the judgment, which they alleged had been obtained by conspiracy and fraud. They asserted that the Longs did know of the existence of potash and that they had obtained more for their land than they had a short time before offered to sell it for.

The district court found that the Longs had not been deceived and enjoined the collection of the judgment. This finding is now approved in an opinion written by Justice Good.

Sentence Is Reduced.

John Seaton, convicted of burglary in Otoe county and sentenced to from five to ten years in the penitentiary, has had his sentence reduced by the high tribunal to from one to ten years. At the time the crime was committed, May, 1920, the old inteterminate sentence law was in effect and this did not allow the court to fix the minimum sentence at a greater period than the minimum set out in the statute for th offense. The new law, which was effective at the time of trial, allows the judge o make the minimum any period, so it is less than the maximum. The trial judge sentenced under this act and the court holds that this was wrong, it being in violation of the substantial right of parole, of which the court cannot deprive the defendant.

The supreme court has held that witnesses in the trial of one charged with being drunk may testify that he defendant was intoxicated. This holding was in the case of Verne Howard, convicted of this offense in the district court of Pawnee county. In his trial a number of witnesses testified that he was intoxicated and he carried the case to the high tribunal, contending that the lower court erred in admitting the testimony, which was merely the conclusion of the witnesses. The high bench says that a witness may testify from observation whether a person was drunk, giving the details and then stating the ultimate fact. Howard was sentenced to forty-five days in the county jail, but the court says that the ends of justice will be subserved by a lighter sentence and cuts it to thirty days.

Apparently due to high freight rates, increasing number of stock buyers are driving livestock overland to the Omaha market. Statistics compiled by J. W. Mayer, acting secretary of agriculture, show a big gain in this method, the figures being for February 1923 and the same month last year:

Calves	1,293	566
Hogs	27,581	21,353
Sheep	34,434	12,254

PUTS BLAME ON BOTH MEN

Gallagher Introduces Resolution in House Recommending Ouster of Both Architect Goodhue and Engineer Johnson

GOES OVER FOR A DAY ON MEAR'S OBJECTION

Commission is to Hold Another Meeting On Wednesday to Consider Evidence Taken at Recent Hearing

Both Architect B. G. Goodhue and State Engineer George Johnson are blamed for the use of inferior stone in the new state capitol building, and the removal of both men is demanded in a resolution presented in the lower branch of the legislature Monday by Representative Donald Gallagher, republican member from Holt county. On objetion by Mr. Mears and others it was laid over for one day as the rules provide.

Mr. Gallagher stated to The Star that when he was at home a few days ago the people were talking more about the new capitol and the alleged failure of those in charge to secure the quality of stone called for by the specifications and contract, than any other subject. His resolution declares that the defects in the material being used are plain to any observer.

The capitol commission is to hold another meeting Wednesday and consider the situation further. It has not yet made any findings as to the kind of stone furnished.

Following is the text of the Gallagher resolution, which is evidently intended to prevent a "whitewash" as the outcome of the inquiry:

"Whereas, the stone used in constructing the outer wall of the new capitol is obviously and unquestionably imperfect, and

"Whereas, the people of the state of Nebraska who are paying for this building are intensely interested in seeing the building constructed in as nearly a perfect manner as possible, and furthermore,

"Whereas, Architect Goodhue, who is drawing $25,000 per year from the state of Nebraska and spending most of his time in New York, and Engineer Johnson are equally to blame insofar as constructing the building of imperfect stone, the former because he originally recommended the stone, the latter because he passed on the stone before it went into the building, and

"Whereas, the negligence of these two men is certain to result in either a great financial loss to the state of Nebraska, or in a building built of poor material, therefore be it

"Resolved that we, the members of this house, as representatives of the taxpayers of the state of Nebraska, recommend the securing of two men to take their places, who will stay on the job and conscientiously look after the interests of the people of this state in the highly important task of constructing the new state house."

Towle. Towle said his motion was made upon the advice of the county attorney.

One French soldier and three Germans were wounded in a riot at Dortmund.

A state of siege has been declared in the entire Recklingnausen district.

Additional troops have been sent to preserve order at Buer, where a French army officer and a French civilian official were killed Saturday night and where excitement has since been running high, resulting in renewed shootings.

Of the Germans who met death, two were shot down while trying to escape from the gendarmes in the Buer disturbances. Five others were killed and several wounded an hour later when a crowd attacked a French guard post. The eighth German was killed at Dortmund, when a crowd attacked a French detachment.

Disturbances Renewed.

Disturbances were renewed at Buer last night, when French gendarmes went to the home of a German suspected of being implicated in the assassination of the French officials. Two Germans who were found there were arrested. They were being taken to a guard post, when, according to the French reports, they tried to escape and were shot.

This created an uproar and within an hour the Germans began pouring into the streets despite the commanding's order prohibiting civilians from being out after 7 p. m.

A crowd assembled in the town square and soon afterward several hundred Germans, mostly men, attempted to storm a French guard post where seven or eight soldiers were stationed.

"I dreaded the basketball tournament," said a regular patron of the Central Hotel Cafe, "especially after I learned that Mr. Harris had booked a number of the teams for rooms at the Central Hotel. The cafe is unusually well filled, even in normal times, and I felt that with all those young men from out in the state crowding in for meals, I'd have a hard time getting served. I was agreeably surprised to get my meals with very little delay, notwithstanding all the bustle and noise and chatter of the crowds. The chefs and waiters moved along with remarkable celerity, and the food and cooking—possibly not quite up to the Central standard—was a mighty relief from the usual treatment one gets on crowded days; and this speaks volumes for the Harris management."—Adv.

TRIAL OF FOSTER GETS UNDER WAY

Alleged Radicals Face Michigan Court and Possible Terms In Prison.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 12—William Z. Foster of Chicago was placed on trial in Berrien county circuit court this morning charged with writing, advocating and "deliberately justifying" the doctrine that "industrial and political reform should be brought about by crime, sabotage and other unlawful methods or terrorism."

Foster is the first of thirty-two persons arrested after a raid on the national convention of the communist party last August to face trial.

Two women were among the first twelve veniremen called to the jury box.

Charles W. Gore, prosecutor of Berrien county, questioned the prospective jurors about their knowledge of pamphlets favoring the defendants which have been mailed to thousands of voters throughout the country by the American Civil Liberties union, and the American defense society.

A score of Fosters felow defendants who are to be tried later were in the audience, including Rose Pastor Stokes.

The Michigan law against criminal syndicalism under which Foster is being tried, carries a penalty upon conviction of ten years in prison or a $5,000 fine or both.

Only one of the first twelve veniremen claimed to have a fixed opinion. A woman took his place and at 11:15, less than two hours after court opened, the state tendered the nine men and three women to the defense.

Action is Free and Joyous When the Feet are Strong and Supple!

A swift, spontaneous move! That's the test of youthfulness—and of the soundness of your feet. For, if your feet are hampered by shoes that do not flex, how can you move freely and gracefully and as you should.

Women who wear Cantilevers feel like walking, dancing, swimming and playing golf. Theirs is the joy of spontaneous action. They stay young because they feel young.

The Cantilever Shoe induces the free and natural grace of carriage that diminishes fatigue and increases your youthful vigor. Ask your doctor to take the word of Frederic H. Robinson, editor Medical Review of Reviews, who says "A beautiful carriage is an enviable gift. No young or older woman can ever keep youth in her limbs if she artificially cramps their natural play."

You will like Cantilevers. The curved arch of Cantilevers is flexible like the arch of your foot. They have the smart, medium heel and trim rounded toe of fashion. They are made for the woman who does not wish to sacrifice good looks for comfort.

All Cantilever Shoes are trademarked for your protection. Prices are reasonable.

DEAN HASTINGS DISTRICT JUDGE

Former Law College Head Succeeds Willis G. Sears of Omaha.

William G. Hastings, former dean of the University of Nebraska law college, and for the past year or two a member of the law firm of Hastings, Ritchie and Cannady at Omaha, has been appointed judge in the Second judicial district, to succeed Judge Willis G. Sears, who was elected to congress at the last election.

Judge Hastings formerly lived at Crete, and was on the district bench in the Seventh district for about 10 years. He also served as a supreme court commissioner for four years and was dean of the law college for ten years. He was acting chancellor at the university when Chancellor Avery was in military service during the war.

The new district judge was not a candidate for the position, according to Governor Bryan. He accepted the appointment Monday morning, and will take up his new duties at once. Judge Sears' resignation took effect Saturday.

Action is Free and Joyous When the Feet are Strong and Supple!

A swift, spontaneous move! That's the test of youthfulness—and of the soundness of your feet. For, if your feet are hampered by shoes that do not flex, how can you move freely and gracefully and as you should.

Women who wear Cantilevers feel like walking, dancing, swimming and playing golf. Theirs is the joy of spontaneous action. They stay young because they feel young.

The Cantilever Shoe induces the free and natural grace of carriage that diminishes fatigue and increases your youthful vigor. Ask your doctor to take the word of Frederic H. Robinson, editor Medical Review of Reviews, who says "A beautiful carriage is an enviable gift. No young or older woman can ever keep youth in her limbs if she artificially cramps their natural play."

You will like Cantilevers. The curved arch of Cantilevers is flexible like the arch of your foot. They have the smart, medium heel and trim rounded toe of fashion. They are made for the woman who does not wish to sacrifice good looks for comfort.

All Cantilever Shoes are trademarked for your protection. Prices are reasonable.

TRIAL OF FOSTER GETS UNDER WAY

Alleged Radicals Face Michigan Court and Possible Terms In Prison.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 12—William Z. Foster of Chicago, was placed on trial in Berrien county circuit court this morning charged with writing, advocating and "deliberately justifying" the doctrine that "industrial and political reform should be brought about by crime, sabotage and other unlawful methods or terrorism."

Foster is the first of thirty-two persons arrested after a raid on the national convention of the communist party last August to face trial.

Two women were among the first twelve veniremen called to the jury box.

Charles W. Gore, prosecutor of Berrien county, questioned the prospective jurors about their knowledge of pamphlets favoring the defendants which have been mailed to thousands of voters throughout the country by the American Civil Liberties union, and the American defense society.

A score of Fosters felow defendants who are to be tried later were in the audience, including Rose Pastor Stokes.

The Michigan law against criminal syndicalism under which Foster is being tried, carries a penalty upon conviction of ten years in prison or a $5,000 fine or both.

Only one of the first twelve veniremen claimed to have a fixed opinion. A woman took his place and at 11:15, less than two hours after court opened, the state tendered the nine men and three women to the defense.

The Eternal Eve

(Copyright, 1922, by May Christie.)

By MAY CHRISTIE.

Then her face cleared as a boyish voice sounded over the wire. A young cousin had just arrived in London and was on his way to see her.

"I'm on my way to a hospital near Hyde Park Corner to visit a—a friend," said Eve. "I——

"Meet me at Piccadilly Circus tube entrance in about ten minutes," cut in the boy cousin. Then he rang off.

Eve was left staring tragically at the telephone. Did he actually think that he was coming with her? He must be crazy!

"I'll just see him for a moment, and invite him around in the evening, or something," she told herself, hailing a taxi.

She stopped at Piccadilly Circus.

"Hello, Eve—looking prettier than ever!" The impetuous boy cousin. "Jove, but I'm glad to see you!" He wrung her hand. "What is the address of your hospital?"

Eve repeated it. He turned, said something to the driver, and then sprang in beside her.

"Topping day for a spin, isn't it?" he remarked. "Oh, by the way, I hope you won't stay long at the hospital, because I want to take you to a dance this afternoon. Just bought the tickets. Tea, cake and a jazz band. You know the sort of thing."

"I have a previous engagement," she began. "The best thing you can do is to rink up some of the other girls you know."

"I don't want any other girl—none of them are as pretty as you, Eve," he said bluntly. "I've got you, and I'm going to hang on to you like grim death!"

Eve tried to smile. The effort was feeble.

"See what I brought for you, too," went on the youth, flourishing a bunch of violets almost as large as a cauliflower.

Soon the taxi drew up outside the hospital.

Eve held out her hand.

"I'll probably stay quite a time," she said, unobtrusively, but firmly. "Don't bother waiting."

But nothing could shake the solidity of the boy cousin's good humor. "Oh, I'll wait," he said airily.

She hurried off.

"Matt Rascommon is expecting me," she told a pretty, perky-looking nurse, who opened the door. "Shall I run along to his ward?"

The nurse regarded her inquisitively.

"No—wait a minute," she said shortly. "I have an idea that Matt Rascommon has gone out."

"Oh, that isn't possible," commented Eve the confident. "He had a—a previous engagement—with me."

The perky nurse smiled an irritating smile, as though to say she knew the ways of men.

"You go and have a look at the books and come back and tell me," she ordered patronizingly and withdrew.

Eve waited, panting.

Just as the next—she rose up! The perky nurse returned and was confronting Eve.

Didn't he make any sort of message for me?" faltered Eve immensely. "He wouldn't wait?"

The girl shook her head decidedly. "Quite impossible," she said, "and he left no message."

Eve turned away, slowly, she retraced her steps out to the waiting taxi.

It was so like Wilfred to do a thing like this. He had been so anxious to see her yesterday in this very hospital. But no doubt there was some excellent reason. He had been summoned to a business interview. It wasn't Wilfred's fault. It was mean of her to feel like that.

Eve had almost forgotten the boy-cousin when he greeted her delightedly, with:

"There! Didn't I tell you so? Fate, that's what it is!"

He ushered her into the taxi with an air of ownership.

As they jogged through the crowded streets and began to regain a little of her poise and peerlessness. The boy-cousin's imperturbable good humor was infectious.

"I was in Paris a week ago," he went on. "Believe me, Eve, we do the darn sports. You've got to hand it to some of those Paris dames, in spotting the right fashions." He closed his eyes in blissful reminiscence.

A short, afterward they drew up at their destination.

The tea band hammered out a syncopated air with much noisy enthusiasm, instruments drumming of drums.

Eve and the boy-cousin made a charming couple, tall and graceful. Louder and louder rang the music. One member of the band—an industrious negro from the southern states—performed strange feats on various noisy instruments, carolling deliriously the while.

"Great, isn't it?" murmured the boy-cousin, delighted with his clever partner. "Eve, we're the best at this game in the whole room!"

"Modest, aren't you?" laughed Eve, exhilarated.

When the music ceased they hurried to their tea table.

"Say, look at the red-haired siren over there!" The boy-cousin was scrutinizing the room. "Some make-up, isn't it? She certainly has a nerve to come out like that!"

Eve saw a much made up young woman, with hair of Titian hue—nature assisted by art—accompanied by a tall young man whose face was partially hidden behind a palm. The countenance of the young woman was camouflaged with paint, pencil and powder.

"Awful, isn't it?" commented the pert boy cousin, frankly. "Got a goodish-looking chap with her, too—looks a gentleman! But perhaps he's been to Paris—like me—and can face anything!"

The Titian-haired young woman was leaning across the little table where she and her partner sat, smiling a Mona Lisa smile into the young man's face and cooing up at him.

The young man half turned in his chair, and the strong, clean-cut profile came well into view.

Eve gasped.

For the young man was Wilfred!

CHARGES NAVY IS SHORT IN POWER

Denby to Cite Serious Sea—Fighting Deficiences to Next Congress.

Surveys Shows Fast Cruisers and Increased Personnel Badly Needed

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 12—Serious deficiencies of the United States navy under the five-five-three ratio adopted by the Washington arms conference will be called to the attention of the sixty-eighth congress as soon as it convenes, it was learned officially today at the navy department.

An expert survey of the international naval situation showing the American sea power to be between 500,000 and 600,000 tons short of its proper sea power under the conference agreement has given impetus to the work already under way in the navy department and Secretary Denby is expected to submit recommendations covering both ships and personnel.

With official opinion practically unanimous that the most pressing need of the navy is for modern scout craft, it was predicted that immediate authorization would be given for fast cruisers and submarines with additional tonnage of these types to be added annually for a definite period of years.

Suggest New Program.

High naval officials have suggested that the immediate program comprise at least eight modern cruisers to supplant the ten of the Detroit class now under construction, three scout and three submarines at 2,500 tons and three mine laying submarines, at least two airplane carriers of the Langley type, in addition to those already under way are also included among the fleet units deemed immediately necessary.

Second only in importance to the need for additional ships in the opinion of officials is that for adequate personnel.

This was brought home forcibly, it was said, in the gathering of the battle fleet for maneuvers when it was found necessary to order all the apprentice classes from their schools to the ships in order that the vessels might be efficiently manned.

The estimates of the deficiency of personnel under the present 16,000 authorized run between 12 and 20 per cent, with most officials holding the view that about 136,000 officers and men will be required to bring the fleet up to the most efficient standard.

Herald Note From China Abrogation of the 1915 Treaty

TOKIO, March 12.—China's note to Japan on Saturday, requesting that a discussion be held with a view of returning Dalny and Port Arthur to China was interpreted here today as no less than a communication declaring abrogated the Chino-Japanese treaty of 1915 which embodied the "twenty-one demands."

The terms of the Chinese note came as a surprise to Japan. The public fears that Japan's refusal to consider China's proposal may arouse anti-Japanese feeling abroad.

Japan's reply to the note will reach Peking this week, unless the privy council, to which it must be submitted, makes some changes in it. The reply will be short and couched in courteous terms, but will deny emphatically the legality of China's action.

Charge Operators Are Gouging Public

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Operators of non-union bituminous coal mines in West Virginia are "gouging" coal consumers by present prices charged for their product, the United Mine Workers of America—national trade union in the coal mining industry—charged in a statement filed with the federal coal commission.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

The Eternal Eve

(Copyright, 1922, by May Christie.)

By MAY CHRISTIE.

Then her face cleared as a boyish voice sounded over the wire. A young cousin had just arrived in London and was on his way to see her.

"I'm on my way to a hospital near Hyde Park Corner to visit a—a friend," said Eve. "I——

"Meet me at Piccadilly Circus tube entrance in about ten minutes," cut in the boy cousin. Then he rang off.

End Eve was left staring ruefully at the telephone. Did he actually think that he was coming with her? He must be crazy!

"I'll just see him for a moment, and invite him around in the evening, or something," she told herself, hailing a taxi.

She stopped at Piccadilly Circus.

"Hello, Eve—looking prettier than ever!" The importunate boy cousin. "Jove, but I'm glad to see you!" He wrung her hand. "What is the address of your hospital?"

Eve repeated it. He turned, said something to the driver, and then sprang in beside her.

"Topping day for a spin, isn't it?" he remarked. "Oh, by the way, I hope you won't stay long at the hospital, because I want to take you to a dance this afternoon. Just bought the tickets. Tea, cake and a jazz band. You know the sort of thing."

"I have a previous engagement," she began. "The best thing you can do is to ring up some of the other girls you know."

"I don't want any other girl—none of them are as pretty as you, Eve," he said bluntly. "I've got you, and I'm going to hang on to you like grim death!"

Eve tried to smile. The effort was feeble.

"See what I brought for you, too," went on the youth, flourishing a bunch of violets almost as large as a cauliflower.

Soon the taxi drew up outside the hospital.

Eve held out her hand.

"I'll probably stay quite a time," she said, apologetically, but firm. Don't bother waiting."

But nothing could shake the solidity of the boy cousin's good humor.

"Oh, I'll wait," he said airily.

She hurried off.

"Capt. Roscommon is expecting me," she told a pretty, perky-looking nurse, who opened the door. "Shall I run along to his ward?"

The nurse regarded her inquisitively.

"No—wait a minute," she said shortly. "I have an idea that Capt. Roscommon has gone out."

"Oh, that isn't possible," commented Eve the confident. "He had a—a previous engagement—with me."

The perky nurse smiled an irritating smile, as though to say she knew the ways of men.

"I'll go and have a look at the board and come back and tell you." She nodded patronizingly and withdrew.

Eve waited, palpitating.

"Just as I thought—he's gone out! The pretty nurse returned and was confronting Eve.

Didn't he leave any sort of message for me?" faltered Eve, immensely downcast. "Couldn't I wait?"

The girl shook her head decidedly.

"Quite impossible," she said, "and he left no message."

Eve turned away, slowly she retracted her steps out to the waiting taxi.

It was so unlike Wilfred to do a thing like this. He had been so anxious to see her, insisting on this visit.

But no doubt there was some excellent reason. He had been summoned to a business interview. It wasn't Wilfred's fault. It was mean of her to feel like this.

Eve had almost forgotten the boy-cousin, when he greeted her delightedly with:

"There! Didn't I tell you so? It's fate, that's what it is!"

He ushered her into the taxi with an air of unholy joy.

As they bowled through the crowded streets, she began to regain a little of her poise and cheeriness. The boy-cousin's imperturbable good humor was infectious.

"I was in Paris a week ago," he went on. "Believe me, Eve, we hit the high spots! Youve got to hand it to some of those Paris dames, in footing the light fantastic!" He closed his eyes in blissful reminiscence.

And shortly afterward they drew up at their destination.

The jazz band hammered out a syncopated air, with much noisy rattling of instruments, drumming of drums.

Eve and the boy-cousin made a charming couple, light and graceful.

Louder and louder rang the music. One member of the band—an hilarious negro from the southern states—performed strange feats on various noisy instruments, carolling delirliously the while.

"Great, isn't it?" murmured the boy-cousin, delighted with his clever partner. "Eve, we're the best at this game in the whole room!"

"Modest, aren't you!" laughed Eve, exhilarated.

When the music ceased they hurried to their tea table.

"Say, look at the red-haired siren over there!" The boy-cousin was scrutinizing the room. "Some make-up, isn't it? She certainly has a nerve to come out like that!"

Eve saw a much made up young woman, with hair of Titian hue—nature assisted by art—accompanied by a tall young man whose face was partially hidden behind a palm. The countenance of the young woman was camouflaged with paint, pencil and powder.

"Awful, isn't it?" commented the pert boy cousin, frankly. "Got a goodish-looking chap with her, too—looks a gentlemant But perhaps he's been to Paris—like me—and can face anything!"

The Titian-haired young woman was leaning across the little table where she and her partner sat, smiling a Mona Lisa smile into the young man's face and cooing up at him.

The young man half turned in his chair, and the strong, clean-cut profile came well into view.

Eve gasped.

For the young man was Wilfred!

CHARGES NAVY IS SHORT IN POWER

Denby to Cite Serious Sea—Fighting Deficiences to Next Congress.

Surveys Shows Fast Cruisers and Increased Personnel Badly Needed

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 12—Serious deficiencies of the United States navy under the five-five-three ratio adopted by the Washington arms conference will be called to the attention of the sixty-eighth congress as soon as it convenes, it was learned officially today at the navy department.

An expert survey of the international naval situation showing the American sea power to be between 300,000 and 400,000 tons short of its proper sea power under the conference agreement has given impetus to the work already under way on the program and Secretary Denby is expected to submit recommendations covering both ships and personnel.

With official opinion practically unanimous that the most pressing need of the navy is for modern scout craft, it was predicted that immediate authorization would be urged for fast cruisers and submarines with additional tonnage of these types to be added annually for a definite period of years.

Suggest New Program.

High naval officials have suggested that the immediate program comprise at least eight modern cruisers to supplant the ten of the Detroit class now under construction, three scout and three submarines at 2,560 tons and three mine laying submarines. At least two airplane carriers of the Langley type, in addition to those already under way are also included among the fleet units deemed immediately necessary.

Second only in importance to the need for auxiliaries in the opinion of officials is that for adequate personnel.

This was brought home forcibly, it was said, in the gathering of the battle fleet for maneuvers when it was found necessary to order all the apprentice classes from their schools to the ships in order that the vessels might be efficiently nandled.

The estimates of the deficiency of personnel under the present 86,000 authorized, run between 12 and 20 per cent, with most officials holding the view that about 108,000 officers and men will be required to bring the fleet up to the most efficient standard.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

Herald Note From China Abrogation of the 1915 Treaty

TOKIO, March 12.—China's note to Japan on Saturday, requesting that a discussion be held with a view of returning Dalny and Port Arthur to China was interpreted here today as no less than a communication declaring abrogated the Chino-Japanese treaty of 1915 which embodied the "twenty-one demands."

The terms of the Chinese note came as a surprise to Japan. The public fears that Japan's refusal to consider China's proposal may arouse anti-Japanese feeling abroad.

Japan's reply to the note will reach Peking this week, unless the privy council, to which it must be submitted, makes some changes in it. The reply will be short and couched in courteous terms, but will deny emphatically the legality of China's action.

THE NEW JOHNSON.

Speaking in New York City the other night Senator Hiram Johnson took issue with President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes on the Harding proposal for American membership in the international court of justice.

From the southland, where the president is spending his vacation, comes the word that Mr. Harding is prepared to fight in behalf of his proposal. There is a glint of battle in his eye, and on one or two occasions President Harding has shown an aggressiveness and vigor in attack hardly to be expected from one so generally calm and judicial in his utterances. But fight it must be, for Mr. Johnson is merely running true to form and if he had not seized upon the world court as an excuse to attack the man he helped elect two years ago, it would have been convenient for him to find some other cause.

The new York speech of the Californian was important, not because of the arguments which he advanced in his opposition to American membership in the court, for in the main there were the same old stock objections which he has tenaciously clung to throughout, but because it was in effect advance notice to Mr. Harding and his friends that they may expect opposition for the party nomination. Senator Johnson is an ambitious man. He has had his eyes turned toward the White House for the last decade, and felt reasonably certain of realizing his ambition in 1920. In states where there were presidential primaries, Johnson polled a heavy vote. He went to Chicago with a more impressive showing of popular strength than any of the candidates for the republican nomination, but he was shortly to discover that he was strongly in disfavor with the leaders of the party. It cost him the nomination. The leaders in the Chicago convention wanted a man of well-defined and known tendencies. Johnson had been too erratic and too radical.

In the last two years Senator Johnson has not been the roaring, rampant, progressive which characterized the earlier years of his career. He has been most mild in his utterances and in his voting he has been found with the conservative wing of his party just as often as he has given his support to the progressives. On the matters of the tariff particularly, the senator from California proved to be a source of very considerable strength to the administration in putting through its pet measure.

So the old Johnson of Roosevelt days has passed and in his stead is a mild conservative—not so conservative as to alienate those in the progressive ranks who have idolized 'Hi' Johnson along with Roosevelt—but sufficiently sane and safe to command attention from the party leaders. Johnson figures, and the results in 1920 would seem to justify his conclusion, that as a vote-getter with the people he is safe. If he can secure the support of the party leaders he feels reasonably certain of nomination. That is his present goal. After that he feels that he will be able to take care of the situation.

When President Harding advanced his proposal that the senate confirm American membership in the international court of justice, which is an offspring of the league of nations, it was a more daring move than any that has been made by the administration. It gave Mr. Johnson the opportunity for which he had been looking. President Harding placed in the Californian's hands the excuse he had been searching for to break away from the administration and yet be able to justify his action. The fight over the world court between Harding and Johnson is only incidental to the fight for the 1924 presidential nomination.

There is this difference.

Senator Johnson may find sentiment throughout America very considerably changed since he made the fight against the league of nations two years ago. The loss of world markets, with the subsequent decline in agricultural products, has done much to convince the agricultural sections of the middle west that perhaps this splendid isolation is not perhaps so glorious as it seemed. Unmistakeable evidence of a drifting sentiment towards American participation in world affairs is to be found in practically every state of the union.

THE CHANCE FOR GREATNESS.

Out of the columns of the current issue of The Literary Digest comes the disconcerting information that we have only one chance in 4,875 of being included among the "Who's Who in America. In Nebraska, if we were born here, the chances are considerably less, about 1 to 12,000 although it is apparent but not stated, that a considerably larger percentage than that of our present population are listed in this book because we have drawn more notables into Nebraska than we have brought here through the processes of nature.

According to birth statistics, Vermont leads the list of great or so-called great people. The rato there is one to 1,096. New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut lead in the order given, after Vermont.

According to vital statistics more notables live in Nevada, the nation's most sparsely populated state, than in any other state in proportion to population. The ratio there is one to every 1,920 residents. New York and Massachusetts, as might be supposed, are second and third, with one notable for every 1961 population. Connecticut is fourth.

Who's Who is published it is explained, in Chicago and ought not be prejudiced in favor of New England, but the fact remains that the nursery of the nation still furnishes the most of our great and alleged great as well as the majority of those who are listed because the positions they occupy entitled them to listing regardless of their ability or prominence.

BANDIT-RIDDEN CHINA.

China drifting toward a whirlwind of disaster, China a victim of interior as well as exterior graft and corruption: that is the picture that is painted again and again by visitors to that troubled country, especially those who as missionaries or agents for commercial houses, penetrate into the interior of the strange nation.

Walled cities as well as unguarded towns and defenseless villages are being pillaged, sacked, robbed and burned, the men killed and the women violated by gathering bands of bandits, made up principally of discharged and discontended soldiers. Foreigners, including Americans, English and French, missionaries among them, have been held for ransom, driven from their stations and threatened with death and torture. Some have probably been victims of the sweeping fire of brigandry.

The regularly organized armies, of which there are a number and which eat hundreds of millions of dollars annually in taxes, are either unable or unwilling to compete with the growing danger. Most observers, including Sherwood Eddy, writing in the Christian Herald, believe it unwillingness and jealousy. Soldiers and bandits are often interchangeable it is charged.

Drifting toward a state of depraved feudal militarism, is the way this writer sums up the situation. China, the oldest and newest of governments, seems after countless years of experimenting to be no nearer an ultimate triumph of home government than is the newest country of the new world.

A MAN OF AFFAIRS.

Land, labor and capital are the three factors involved in production according to D. H. Otis, agricultural director of the American Bankers' association, and a rise in any one of these factors increases the cost of production. Land values have advanced sharply in the last generation, making many of our farmers wealthy, more from the advance in land value than from the sale of products raised on the land. They enjoy what is known as the "unearned increment," which Mr. Otis believes must some time be paid for.

The farmer, he declares is fast becoming a man of affairs, a business man, doing business in a business way and furnishing business for numerous enterprises such as rural banks and grain buyers. Under the subhead of "Something to think about," Mr. Otis makes the following deductions.

"It is said that only from 7 to 15 per cent of the farms of the United States are inherited. The rest must be paid for in whole or in part once with each generation. Can this be done? With increasing land values this becomes increasingly difficult. A reasonable rate of interest on land worth $800 will involve an interest or rental charge of $15 to $18 per acre. On land worth $400 this will be from $20 to $24 per acre. This is a heavy fixed charge for the farmer who attempts to pay for his farm in the course of a lifetime. Unless this can be done it means that we are to be cursed with a permanent tenant system."

Every citizen, he adds, is interested in seeing that farm land values are not run beyond their production value. Fictitious land values mean higher living costs and ultimately a lower class of citizens as tenant farmers. If land values are run up too high for speculative purposes, either by the farmer owner of by the real estate man, farming on that land will always prove unprofitable and the farmer and the consumer will alike suffer in consequence.

This presents a rather new argument against booms in farm lands, an argument which indicates that in the end no one profits from rising farm land prices after they reach a point where they can not produce interest on their valuation.

If congress actually wishes to cut expenses, re respectfully suggest that there are 4,000,000 world war veterans who would be delighted to serve without pay on the commission investigating the Alaska "goldfish" trust.

Pity for the poor polecat moved the Iowa state senate to pass a bill which provides that skunks may not be trapped in October, though they may be shot with impunity.

Local stores are showing invisible hair nets, remarks the Grand Island Independent.

It requires food and oratory to bring out a crowd—more particularly food.

Comment by the Press

CO-ORDINATION.

Petroleum production in the United States last year amounted to around 556,000,000 barrels, compared with 450,000,000 barrels in 1921. Stocks or crude oil on Dec. 1, were 276,00,000 barrels, or more than half the year's output. New Wells brought in during 1922 numbered 23,840, against 21,152 in 1921. Consumption showed only a slight increase.

Oil supplies were increaseing faster than the demand, but whether the moderate decline which took place in gasoline and other oil products adequately registered the fact is questionable. Gasoline, in fact, showed independent strength while crude oil was declining and producers were without a market. A degree of price stabilization was effected, in the face of an unfavorable supply and demand situation, which would have been impossible in any less centralized business.

Such control is commonly supposed to imply a violation of the law of supply and demand. It seems rather to be achieved in harmony with that law, by means of regulated marketing. Over-production in any line cannot affect prices until the surplus comes into the market. In the oil industry, facilities exist for keeping surplus stocks where they will not strengthen the buyer against the seller. There is none of the enforced dumping that is the bane of agriculture.

It is not certain that storing surplusses will enable the oil men to dominate oil prices indefinitely. Storage space was vastly increased last year, but wells are still flowing and their production must be taken away or run to waste. Production may conceivably overflow storage room and consumption together, in which case prices would almost certainly fall. But the fact remains that regulated marketing in the oil business has hitherto proved a highly effective means of stabilizing prices. It might be made more effective still, if combined with regulation of output.

Co-ordination of marketing and production is manifestly the aim of the big oil interests. Whether the oil industry is using wrongful means to exact unfair toll from the public, as we used to be so sure, or whether it is merely developing a legitimate business technique superior to the old one, is a question that we are coming to consider calmly. In the former case, remedies are to be sought in legislation as heretofore. In the latter, other interests, including agriculture, will prepare and must be allowed to walk in the path that has been marked.—Des Moines Register.

More Truth Than Poetry

I've often had the wish to start
Some kind of reformation;
Ten years ago I set my heart
On plans to save the nation;
My first assault was made on gum;
I gathered figures showing
How ruin would be sure to come
If people's jaws kept going.

I pointed out the awful cost;
I also estimated
The energy forever lost
Where gum was masticated;
I begged in accents of despair
To have the evil righted,
But people didn't seem to care,
They wouldn't get excited.

From gum I turned to other things
With trembling apprehension;
The cutting of Manila strings
Appeared to need attention—
A wasteful practice, one that ought
To call for drastic action;
I made appeals for public thought,
But got no satisfaction.

In later years I raised my voice
In strenuous opposition
To candy as the second choice
Of foes to Prohibition;
I sought without avail to get
Umbrellas for the sparrows,
So that they might no more get wet
Or frozen to their marrows.

I've tried in many other ways
To show my public spirit,
But I'm afraid I'll end my days
In poverty, or near it;
My lot is sad, my purse is flat,
I'm full of tribulations;
I've never been successful at
Soliciting donations.

THE GREATER LOVE

A New Romance by Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Author of Nation-Wide Reputation and Writer of Popular Novels and Short Stories.

CHAPTER CVIII.

Wonderingly, and with trembling fingers, Kenneth opened Ruth Grant's letter. Then he dropped into a chair to read it.

"Dear Mr. Lang," he read. "This letter will seem like an unconventional thing—but father and I were so worried—(as was Martha)—at the thought of your driving home last night through that awful storm, that father has suggested that I ask you to send us a line telling us just how you are.

"Father says such a long drive and such exposure so soon after your illness was very imprudent. Will you send him—or me—a few words about your condition? We hope you are not ill after all you went through. Father says you should not have let even business bring you up here by auto in such weather.

"I am writing this early in the morning to be sure to catch the first mail out. Abe will take it right down to the post office.

"Late last night a boy brought us a note sent by Miss Walsh. In it she said that she had been married last evening at the parsonage to the man she had pretended was her brother. I hope she will be happy.

"Will you forgive me if I add that in any trouble you also have my sympathy? Sincerely yours,

RUTH GRANT."

What a wonderful letter, was the recipient's first thought. Then, on re-reading it, his enthusiasm was less keen. It was, indeed, a lovely letter, such as a sweet girl might write at her father's instigation to a man who had been his patient and an inmate of his home for weeks. But Kenneth wished that she had penned it of her own accord.

Yet the final paragraph had certainly come straight from her own mind—or heart.

After hoping that Victoria—who had lied, to her in telling her that Travers was her brother— might be happy, she had expressed her sympathy in any trouble that Lang might have.

This could mean but one thing. She believed that Kenneth Lang loved Victoria Walsh; that he had followed her to try to persuade her not to marry Travers—and had failed.

This was the only explanation Ruth Grant could find to the occurrences of last night.

At first, she must have believed that Kenneth and Victoria were to be married by Mr. Hamilton, with Victoria's "brother" as witness. Now that her mind had been disabused of this belief, there was but one explanation of the whole transaction. This was that Kenneth was a disappointed suitor for Victoria's hand.

And, as such, she sympathized with him.

He could not bear to have her suppose that he loved Victoria where he had never loved anybody but her sweet self.

Yet—she was engaged to Mr. Hamilton!

If she did not love the minister, she should not marry him!

Lang sprang up, and, as was his custom when agitated, began to walk up and down his room.

As he passed his mirror he saw the reflection of his face. He was surprised to note how pale and haggard he looked. Dr. Grant was right. He had been taking too great risks with his health.

Yet he could not help it. He could not accept things calmly when they were in such a turbulent condition.

Turning out his light, he went to the window and looked out. The sky was brilliantly clear. The days of storm had washed all nature clean. There was an autumn freshness in the air. Soon the leaves on the trees would be turning. Then winter would settle down.

He would be horribly lonely.

Over the hills to the west of the town the slender crescent of the new moon was just sinking out of sight. He wondered if Ruth had seen it, too—and if, in looking at it, she had thought of him.

She had said that she, her father, and Martha were all anxious about him. Perhaps she was thinking of him—was wishing she knew just how he was.

He would telephone her at once.

He started for his telephone—then stopped. He remembered that last night the telephone wires in Southl hold had been crippled by the storm.

He shook his head impatiently. He must hear her voice—must see her again!

By the time he had eaten his dinner and was ready for bed, he had reached a determination.

He would go to Southold tomorrow by train. Dobson had wondered today if there were a good architect in that region. Lang would offer to run over to Southold and find out.

FREE PASS AN ABUSE.

(Bloomington Advocate-Tribune.)

The legislature has been spending a good deal of time over the free pass for the clergymen of this state. It is said this is in the interest of charity. The pass question was settled years ago when it was forbidden to everybody except employes of the road. If it is to be given to the clergymen on the charity basis there are a lot more people in the country who should be included, such as the doctor, the lawyer the editor and, yes, the farmer too. Better let a good law severely alone. The newspaper men who always paid for their passes in advertising, are now against the scheme. It's an abuse that should not be allowed to return.

CHANGE COUNTY GOVERNMENT

(Clay County Sun.)

Some day some man who is not very smart but who is intensely practical will introduce a bill into the Nebraska legislature which will change our entire form of county government and enable us to hire a county manager to take charge of our public affairs and continue in charge so long as he can run them on an overhead that is warranted by the business. If when that time comes we have intelligence enough to free ourselves from the stone about our neck which we call politics and select a businessman of the right caliber we will have entered on such a period of peace and prosperity as no county in the state has ever deemed possible.

OUR RUBBER SUPPLY.

(Norfolk News.)

Recent increases in the price of rubber, which is now being reflected in advances in the price of automobile tires, have called attention to the great opportunity open to the Philippine islands for the production of crude rubber, but it consumes about 75 per cent of the world's supply. It is therefore wholly at the mercy of foreign producers.

The availability of the island of Mindanao, in the Philippines, for rubber production has been investigated with generally favorable reports. The island now produces a limited quantity. The climate and soil are similar to those of the Malayan islands which are our principal sources of supply. The chief drawbacks are lack of cheap labor and capital. Both of these could be supplied under a policy favorable to the production of rubber.

This country has quadrupled its consumption of rubber since the beginning of the war. New sources of supply will have to be found if the use of automobiles continues to increase as it seems certain that it will. Under the circumstances it would seem to be up to this country, working in harmony with the Philippine government to begin the development of the rubber resources of the islands. If we do not we may find one of our greatest industries handicapped by lack of raw material.

THE NEW JOHNSON.

Speaking in New York City the other night Senator Hiram Johnson took issue with President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes on the Harding proposal for American membership in the international court of justice.

From the southland, where the president is spending his vacation, comes the word that Mr. Harding is prepared to fight in behalf of his proposal. There is a glint of battle in his eye, and on one or two occasions President Harding has shown an aggressiveness and vigor in attack hardly to be expected from one so generally calm and judicial in his utterances. But fight it must be, for Mr. Johnson is merely running true to form and if he had not seized upon the world court as an excuse to attack the man he helped elect two years ago, it would have been convenient for him to find some other cause.

The new York speech of the Californian was important, not because of the arguments which he advanced in his opposition to American membership in the court, for in the main there were the same old stock objections which he has tenaciously clung to throughout, but because it was in effect advance notice to Mr. Harding and his friends that they may expect opposition for the party nomination. Senator Johnson is an ambitious man. He has had his eyes turned toward the White House for the last decade, and felt reasonably certain of realizing his ambition in 1920. In states where there were presidential primaries, Johnson polled a heavy vote. He went to Chicago with a more impressive showing of popular strength than any of the candidates for the republican nomination, but he was shortly to discover that he was strongly in disfavor with the leaders of the party. It cost him the nomination. The leaders in the Chicago convention wanted a man of well-defined and known tendencies. Johnson had been too erratic and too radical.

In the last two years Senator Johnson has not been the roaring, rampant, progressive which characterized the earlier years of his career. He has been most mild in his utterances and in his voting he has been found with the conservative wing of his party just as often as he has given his support to the progressives. On the matters of the tariff particularly, the senator from California proved to be a source of very considerable strength to the administration in putting through its pet measure.

So the old Johnson of Roosevelt days has passed and in his stead is a mild conservative—not so conservative as to alienate those in the progressive ranks who have idolized 'Hi' Johnson along with Roosevelt—but sufficiently sane and safe to command attention from the party leaders. Johnson figures, and the results in 1920 would seem to justify his conclusion, that as a vote-getter with the people he is safe. If he can secure the support of the party leaders he feels reasonably certain of nomination. That is his present goal. After that he feels that he will be able to take care of the situation.

When President Harding advanced his proposal that the senate confirm American membership in the international court of justice, which is an offspring of the league of nations, it was a more daring move than any that has been made by the administration. It gave Mr. Johnson the opportunity for which he had been looking. President Harding placed in the Californian's hands the excuse he had been searching for to break away from the administration and yet be able to justify his action. The fight over the world court between Harding and Johnson is only incidental to the fight for the 1924 presidential nomination.

There is this difference.

Senator Johnson may find sentiment throughout America very considerably changed since he made the fight against the league of nations two years ago. The loss of world markets, with the subsequent decline in agricultural products, has done much to convince the agricultural sections of the middle west that perhaps this splendid isolation is not perhaps so glorious as it seemed. Unmistakeable evidence of a drifting sentiment towards American participation in world affairs is to be found in practically every state of the union.

THE CHANCE FOR GREATNESS.

Out of the columns of the current issue of The Literary Digest comes the disconcerting information that we have only one chance in 4,375 of being included among the "Who's Who in America. In Nebraska, if we were born here, the chances are considerably less, about 1 to 12,000 although it is apparent but not stated, that a considerably larger percentage than that of our present population are listed in this book because we have drawn more notables into Nebraska than we have brought here through the processes of nature.

According to birth statistics, Vermont leads the list of great or so-called great people. The rato there is one to 1,096. New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut lead in the order given, after Vermont.

According to vital statistics more notables live in Nevada, the nation's most sparsely populated state, than in any other state in proportion to population. The ratio there is one to every 1,920 residents. New York and Massachusetts, as might be supposed, are second and third, with one notable for every 1961 population. Connecticut is fourth.

Who's Who is published it is explained, in Chicago and ought not be prejudiced in favor of New England, but the fact remains that the nursery of the nation still furnishes the most of our great and alleged great as well as a majority of those who are listed because the positions they occupy entitled them to listing regardless of their ability or prominence.

BANDIT-RIDDEN CHINA.

China drifting toward a whirlwind of disaster. China a victim of interior as well as exterior graft and corruption; that is the picture that is painted again and again by visitors to that troubled country, especially those who as missionaries or agents for commercial houses, penetrate into the interior of the strange nation.

Walled cities as well as unguarded towns and defenseless villages are being pillaged, sacked, robbed and burned, the men killed and the women violated by gathering bands of bandits, made up principally of discharged and discontended soldiers. Foreigners, including Americans, English and French, missionaries among them, have been held for ransom, driven from their stations and threatened with death and torture. Some have probably been victims of the sweeping fire of brigandry.

The regularly organized armies, of which there are a number and which eat hundreds of millions of dollars annually in taxes, are either unable or unwilling to compete with the growing danger. Most observers, including Sherwood Eddy, writing in the Christian Herald, believe it unwillingness and jealousy. Soldiers and bandits are often interchangeable it is charged.

Drifting toward a state of depraved feudal militarism, is the way this writer sums up the situation. China, the oldest and newest of governments, seems after countless years of experimenting to be no nearer an ultimate triumph of home government than is the newest country of the new world.

A MAN OF AFFAIRS.

Land, labor and capital are the three factors involved in production according to D. H. Otis, agricultural director of the American Bankers' association, and a rise in any one of these factors increases the cost of production. Land values have advanced sharply in the last generation, making many of our farmers wealthy, more from the advance in land value than from the sale of products raised on the land. They enjoy what is known as the "unearned increment," which Mr. Otis believes must some time be paid for.

The farmer, he declares is fast becoming a man of affairs, a business man, doing business in a business way and furnishing business for numerous enterprises such as rural banks and grain buyers. Under the subhead of "Something to think about," Mr. Otis makes the following deductions.

"It is said that only from 7 to 15 per cent of the farms of the United States are inherited. The rest must be paid for in whole or in part once with each generation. Can this be done? With increasing land values this becomes increasingly difficult. A reasonable rate of interest on land worth $300 will involve an interest or rental charge of $15 to $18 per acre. On land worth $400 this will be from $20 to $24 per acre. This is a heavy fixed charge for the farmer who attempts to pay for his farm in the course of a lifetime. Unless this can be done it means that we are to be cursed with a permanent tenant system."

Every citizen, he adds, is interested in seeing that farm land values are not run beyond their production value. Fictitious land values mean higher living costs and ultimately a lower class of citizens as tenant farmers. If land values are run up too high for speculative purposes, either by the farmer owner of by the real estate man, farming on that land will always prove unprofitable and the farmer and the consumer will alike suffer in consequence.

This presents a rather new argument against booms in farm lands, an argument which indicates that in the end no one profits from rising farm land prices after they reach a point where they can not produce interest on their valuation.

CO-ORDINATION.

Petroleum production in the United States last year amounted to around 550,000,000 barrels, compared with 450,000,000 barrels in 1921. Stocks or crude oil on Dec. 1, were 276,00,000 barrels, or more than half the year's output. New Wells brought in during 1922 numbered 23,840, against 21,152 in 1921. Consumption showed only a slight increase.

Oil supplies were increaseing faster than the demand, but whether the moderate decline which took place in gasoline and other oil products adequately registered the fact is questionable. Gasoline, in fact, showed independent strength while crude oil was declining and producers were without a market. A degree of price stabilization was effected, in the face of an unfavorable supply and demand situation, which would have been impossible in any less centralized business.

Such control is commonly supposed to imply a violation of the law of supply and demand. It seems rather to be achieved in harmony with that law, by means of regulated marketing. Over-production in any line cannot affect prices until the surplus comes into the market. In the oil industry, facilities exist for keeping surplus stocks where they will not strengthen the buyer against the seller. There is none of the enforced dumping that is the bane of agriculture.

It is not certain that storing surplusses will enable the oil men to dominate oil prices indefinitely. Storage space was vastly increased last year, but wells are still flowing and their production must be taken away or run to waste. Production may conceivably overflow storage room and consumption together, in which case prices would almost certainly fall. But the fact remains that regulated marketing in the oil business has hitherto proved a highly effective means of stabilizing prices. It might be made more effective still, if combined with regulation of output.

Co-ordination of marketing and production is manifestly the aim of the big oil interests. Whether the oil industry is using wrongful means to exact unfair toll from the public, as we used to be so sure, or whether it is merely developing a legitimate business technique superior to the old one, is a question that we are coming to consider calmly. In the former case, remedies are to be sought in legislation as heretofore. In the latter, other interests, including agriculture, will prepare and must be allowed to walk in the path that has been marked.—Des Moines Register.

THE GREATER LOVE

A New Romance by Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Author of Nation-Wide Reputation and Writer of Popular Novels and Short Stories.

CHAPTER CVIII.

Wonderingly, and with trembling fingers, Kenneth opened Ruth Grant's letter. Then he dropped into a chair to read it.

"Dear Mr. Lang," he read. "This letter will seem like an unconventional thing—but father and I were so worried—(as was Martha)—at the thought of your driving home last night through that awful storm, that father has suggested that I ask you to send us a line telling us just how you are.

"Father says such a long drive and such exposure so soon after your illness was very imprudent. Will you send him—or me—a few words about your condition? We hope you are not ill after all you went through. Father says you should not have let even business bring you up here by auto in such weather.

'I am writing this early in the morning to be sure to catch the first mail out. Abe will take it right down to the post office.

"Late last night a boy brought us a note sent by Miss Walsh. In it she said that she had been married last evening at the parsonage to the man she had pretended was her brother. I hope she will be happy.

"Will you forgive me if I add that in any trouble you also have my sympathy? Sincerely yours,
RUTH GRANT."

What a wonderful letter, was the recipient's first thought. Then, on re-reading it, his enthusiasm was less keen. It was, indeed, a lovely letter, such as a sweet girl might write at her father's instigation to a man who had been his patient and an inmate of his home for weeks. But Kenneth wished that she had penned it of her own accord.

Yet the final paragraph had certainly come straight from her own mind—or heart.

After hoping that Victoria—who had lied to her in telling her that Travers was her brother— might be happy, she had expressed her sympathy in any trouble that Lang might have.

This could mean but one thing. She believed that Kenneth Lang loved Victoria Walsh; that he had followed her to try to persuade her not to marry Travers—and had failed.

This was the only explanation Ruth Grant could find to the occurrences of last night.

At first, she must have believed that Kenneth and Victoria were to be married by Mr. Hamilton, with Victoria's "brother" as witness. Now that her mind had been disabused of this belief, there was but one explanation of the whole transaction. This was that Kenneth was a disappointed suitor for Victoria's hand.

And, as such, she sympathized with him.

He could not bear to have her suppose that he loved Victoria where he had never loved anybody but her sweet self.

Yet—she was engaged to Mr. Hamilton!

If she did not love the minister, she should not marry him!

Lang sprang up, and, as was his custom when agitated, began to walk up and down his room.

As he passed his mirror he saw the reflection of his face. He was surprised to note how pale and haggard he looked. Dr. Grant was right. He had been taking too great risks with his health.

Yet he could not help it. He could not accept things calmly when they were in such a turbulent condition.

Turning out his light, he went to the window and looked out. The sky was brilliantly clear. The days of storm had washed all nature clean. There was an autumn freshness in the air. Soon the leaves on the trees would be turning. Then winter would settle down.

He would be horribly lonely.

Over the hills to the west of the town the slender crescent of the new moon was just sinking out of sight. He wondered if Ruth had seen it, too—and if, in looking at it, she had thought of him.

She had said that she, her father, and Martha were all anxious about him. Perhaps she was thinking of him—was wishing she knew just how he was.

He would telephone her at once.

He started for his telephone—then stopped. He remembered that last night the telephone wires in Southl hold had been crippled by the storm.

He shook his head impatiently. He must hear her voice—must see her again!

By the time he had eaten his dinner and was ready for bed, he had reached a determination.

He would go to Southold tomorrow by train. Dobsor had wondered today if there were a good architect in that region. Lang would offer to run over to Southold and find out.

The Nebraska Press

FREE PASS AN ABUSE.

(Bloomington Advocate-Tribune.)

The legislature has been spending a good deal of time over the free pass for the clergymen of this state. It is said this is in the interest of charity. The pass question was settled years ago when it was forbidden to everybody except employes of the road. If it is to be given to the clergymen on the charity basis there are a lot more people in the country who should be included, such as the doctor, the lawyer the editor and, yes, the farmer too. Better let a good law severely alone. The newspaper men who always paid for their passes in advertising, are now against the scheme. It's an abuse that should not be allowed to return.

CHANGE COUNTY GOVERNMENT

(Clay County Sun.)

Some day some man who is not very smart, but who is intensely practical will introduce a bill into the Nebraska legislature which will change our entire form of county government and enable us to hire a county manager to take charge of our public affairs and continue in charge so long as he can run them on an overhead that is warranted by the business. If when that time comes we have intelligence enough to free ourselves from the stone about our neck which we call politics and select a businessman of the right caliber we will have entered on such a period of peace and prosperity as no county in the state has ever deemed possible.

OUR RUBBER SUPPLY.

(Norfolk News.)

Recent increases in the price of rubber, which is now being reflected in advances in the price of automobile tires, have called attention to the great opportunity open to the Philippine islands for the production of crude rubber, but it consumes about 75 per cent of the world's supply. It is therefore wholly at the mercy of foreign producers.

The availability of the island of Mindanao, in the Philippines, for rubber production has been investigated with generally favorable reports. The island now produces a limited quantity. The climate and soil are similar to those of the Malayan islands which are our principal sources of supply. The chief drawbacks are lack of cheap labor and capital. Both of these could be supplied under a policy favorable to the production of rubber.

This country has quadrupled its consumption of rubber since the beginning of the war. New sources of supply will have to be found if the use of automobiles continues to increase as it seems certain that it will. Under the circumstances it would seem to be up to this country, working in harmony with the Philippine government to begin the development of the rubber resources of the islands. If we do not we may find one of our greatest industries handicapped by lack of raw material.

"ASK YOUR BANKER."

(Beatrice Express.)

The American Bankers' association, through co-operation of local banks throughout the country, is waging an active and impressive advertising campaign against fraudulent stock and other promotions which will not stand the tests of financial analysis. The slogan of the campaign is "Ask your own banker."

It is timely and wholesome advice. Your local bank is expert and the benefits of its long experience in investments and finance is yours for the asking. American banks are performing a distinct service in this respect and one that is bound to be of great benefit. When in doubt, "Ask your banker." If the investment is sound you will not lose by the slight delay incident to investigating.

GOODHUE OR BAD HUE

(Kearney Hub.)

State Engineer Johnson's exposures regarding the stone and letting of contracts for same for the new capitol building, place Mr. Bertram Goodhue, architect, in an extraordinary light which he is not taking any pains to explain. Now that the matter has been opened up let us have the whole truth, regardless of Goodhue or bad hue.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva.

Happy Though.

Dear Minerva: I have enjoyed reading your mail these winter evenings and many times the bromidic thought runs through my mind that it takes all kinds of people to make the world go round. I think I have been most interested in the letters concerning home life. Happy and less happy. The letters in your mail have taught me a truth. I believe, and that truth is that no home will run itself and no ship will sail the sea of matrimony without someone giving time and effort to direct it.

I think the great trouble with most of the unhappy married couples is that they get married and then try to live under the hallucination that everything will take care of itself. Fifty-fifty is a good rule in most realms, but in married life I believe each should give about seventy-five. The husband can not slam the door in his wife's face because the slammed is in his, and vice versa. Very often one or the other must go all the way to make up after a family quarrel.

Short-sightedness is one of the failings which cause marital unhappiness between young couples. They forget that the joys and excitement of youth will pass and that the day will come when peace and contentment with life are the biggest rewards. It is in these golden days that happy companionship between husband and wife mean so much. If for no other reason young couples should strive, even sacrifice, for married bliss in order to be prepared for their later days.

My husband and I have passed the half century mark and I feel that my experience gives me a right to speak with knowledge of my subject. Needless to say, we are living happy, contented lives. But I will be frank—all has not been easy. I remember many years ago when there were times that my husband and I quarreled over matters which seemed to us very important at that time. And I remember that on some occasions I was very obstinate and he went more than half way in patching up our differences. On other occasions I went more than half way. But we remained true to our altar vows and now we are reaping our rewards.—A YOUNG GRANDMOTHER.

No Binding Link.

Dear Minerva: I was very interested in the letter from Plato Roth. It touched me so nearly and I am asking for help from him or from you in handling a situation that is all too common these days. My husband who has always been true to me has been caught in the toils of a young woman that I do not know. How far the affair has gone I do not know. But he meets her outside his place of business and she even calls up our home and I have heard him make an appointment with her from here.

We have no children but I have been through some hard financial experiences with him and have more than carried my share of the load. Right now I am working and putting in longer hours than he does as well as trying to make a home.

It is nearly killing me and worst of all he denies everything. But he has lied to me so much I am getting used to that part of it.

It makes me sick to hear you advise others to keep themselves well dressed, the home clean and to be cheerful. I am and always have been all of that. You may be sure I have tried to talk to him, but what is one to do when he lies and tells me I have imagined it, and then meets the other woman around the corner the next day.

Anyway is a man of that calibre worth the effort to hold I feel nothing but contempt for him and I cant bear to have him touch me. His caresses do not ring true. They are lies just as his protestations of innocence are.

But what would you do if you were me, Minerva—and Plato Roth? —WRONGED.

A I cannot see any binding link between you and this man who is your husband. Your love for him has gone, likewise your respect and admiration. You hold him in utter contempt. You are even self-supporting. Yet he is making you suffer with his infidelities. I would certainly advise a life of peace sought far from his unhappy influence.

Believes In Love.

Dear Minerva. I have just read Edna's letter and I can't seem to swallow it. It just won't go down. She sounds as though she has dyspepsia or indigestion or both.

So you don't believe in love and happiness, eh, Edna? Why then do you suppose a couple will get married, start a home and family, go through sickness, hard times and heart breaking work together, pour out pulling evenly and happily along, if, as you say, there is no such thing as love and happiness.

Can't you realize that there has to be deep and abiding love present, to make life livable? Of course they "chew the rag" occasionally I'd hate to see a husband or wife so wishy-washy or spineless that they never had an opinion of their own. Believe me, and I'm saying this in all earnestness, if my husband disagrees with my opinions, I want him to say so and we'll then proceed to argue it to a finish and then forget it.

And not all men and women chase around after the other's wife or husband. Far from it. But you see, the ones who do get lots of notoriety, while you seldom hear of the ones who don't because no one ever thinks of giving them a write-up. The couples who jog quietly along, doing their best for each other, would not make interesting reading you know. It would be a bore to read about, so you are fed upon the fast and jazzy ones. Am I not right, friends?—HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED AND POOR.

Who don't want dingy film on teeth

This offers you a method millions now employ. It is used the world over—in some 50 countries—by people who want to fight film.

You see the results everywhere. New charm, new beauty comes from glistening teeth. Now we urge you to learn, by a delightful test, how such teeth are acquired.

Film—the great enemy

Film is the teeth's great enemy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why few escaped tooth troubles.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

So dental science sought ways to fight film, and in time found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film combatants were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Dentists the world over now advise its daily use.

Constant guardians

Pepsodent also creates constant guardians. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus it gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

'Twill delight you

The Pepsodent results will amaze and delight you. This test may change the whole dental history in your home.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will very soon convince you. And that is most important. Cut out coupon now.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

VACATION NOT ALL PLAY FOR HARDING

Official Duties Claiming Share of President's Attention During Cruise.

(Associated Press.)

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12.—As the houseboat Pioneer, carrying President and Mrs. Harding and their vacation companions steamed slowly southward, today indications increased that the stay of the executive chief in Southern Florida would not be all play and no work.

Although the president has been devoting himself mostly to rest and recreation since he left Washington, a week ago today, definite periods each day, have been set aside for official business. Telegraphic correspondence has been maintained with the white house.

Intimations have come from the Pioneer as the party has cruised southward, that an announcement of the administration merchant marine policy might be made while the president is in Miami. Chairman Lasker of the shipping board is a member of the vacation party and announced on arrival at Ormond last Tuesday that he soon expected to discuss with the president ways and means of meeting the problem created by the defeat of the administration shipping bill.

The president attended church at Palm Beach yesterday.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A campaign for contributions to a $100,000 "freedom fund" with which the anti-saloon league of this state proposes to make itself independent of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Jr., and launched last night by William H. Anderson, superintendent of the league. Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Happy Though.

Dear Minerva: I have enjoyed reading your mail these winter evenings and many times the bromidic thought runs through my mind that it takes all kinds of people to make the world go round. I think I have been most interested in the letters concerning home life, happy and less happy. The letters in your mail have taught me a truth, I believe, and that truth is that no home will run itself and no ship will sail the sea of matrimony without someone giving time and effort to direct it.

I think the great trouble with most of the the unhappy married couples is that they get married and then try to live under the hallucination that everything will take care of itself. Fifty-fifty is a good rule in most realms, but in married life I believe each should give about seventy-five. The husband can not slam the door in his wife's face because she slammed it in his, and vice versa. Very often one or the other must go all the way to make-up after a family quarrel.

Short-sightedness is one of the failings which cause marital unhappiness between young couples. They forget that the joys and excitement of youth will pass and that the day will come when peace and contentment with life are the biggest rewards. It is in these golden days that happy companionship between husband and wife mean so much. If for no other reason, young couples should strive, even sacrifice, for married bliss in order to be prepared for their later days.

My husband and I have passed the half century mark and I feel that my experience gives me a right to speak with knowledge of my subject. Needless to say, we are living happy, contented lives. But I will be frank—all has not been easy. I remember many years ago when there were times that my husband and I quarreled over matters which seemed to us very important at that time. And I remember that on some occasions I was very obstinate and he went more than half way in patching up our differences. On other occasions I went more than half way. But we remained true to our altar vows and now we are reaping our rewards.—A YOUNG GRANDMOTHER.

No Binding Link.

Dear Minerva: I was very interested in the letter from Plato Roth. It touched me so nearly and I am asking for help from him or from you in handling a situation that is all too common these days. My husband who has always been true to me has been caught in the toils of a young woman that I do not know. How far the affair has gone I do not know. But he meets her outside his place of business and she even calls up our home and I have heard him make an appointment with her from here.

We have no children but I have been through some hard financial experiences with him and have more than carried my share of the load. Right now I am working and putting in longer hours than he does as well as trying to make a home.

It is nearly killing me and worst of all he denies everything. But he has lied to me so much I am getting used to that part of it.

It makes me sick to hear you advise others to keep themselves well dressed, the home clean and to be cheerful. I am and always have been all of that. You may be sure I have tried to talk to him, but what is one to do when he lies and tells me I have imagined it, and then meets the other woman around the corner the next day.

Anyway is a man of that calibre worth the effort to hold I feel nothing but contempt for him and I cant bear to have him touch me. His caresses do not ring true. They are lies just as his protestations of innocence are.

Jut what would you do if you were me, Minerva—and Plato Roth? —WRONGED.

A I cannot see any binding link between you and this man who is your husband. Your love for him has gone, likewise your respect and admiration. You hold him in utter contempt. You are even self-supporting. Yet he is making you suffer with his infidelities. I would certainly advise a life of peace sought far from his unhappy influence.

Believes In Love.

Dear Minerva: I have just read Edna's letter and I can't seem to swallow it. It just won't go down. She sounds as though she has dyspepsia or indigestion or both.

So you don't believe in love and happpiness, eh, Edna? Why then do you suppose a couple will get married, start a home and family, go through sickness, hard times and heart breaking work together, poor, but pulling evenly and happily along, if, as you say, there is no such thing as love and happiness.

Can't you realize that there has to be deep and abiding love present, to make life livable? Of course they "chew the rag" occasionally I'd hate to see a husband or wife so wishy-washy or spineless that they never had an opinion of their own. Believe me, and I'm saying this in all earnestness, if my husband disagrees with my opinions, I want him to say so and we'll then proceed to argue it to a finish and then forget it.

And not all men and women chase around after the other's wife or husband. Far from it. But you see, the ones who do get lots of notoriety, while you seldom hear of the ones who don't because no one ever thinks of giving them a write-up. The couples who jog quietly along, doing their best for each other, would not make interesting reading you know. It would be a bore to read about, so you are fed upon the fast and jazzy ones. Am I not right, friends?—HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED AND POOR.

VACATION NOT ALL PLAY FOR HARDING

Official Duties Claiming Share of President's Attention During Cruise.

(Associated Press.)

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 12.—As the houseboat Pioneer, carrying President and Mrs. Harding and their vacation companions steamed slowly southward, today indications increased that the stay of the executive chief in Southern Florida would not be all play and no work.

Although the president has been devoting himself mostly to rest and recreation since he left Washington, a week ago today, definite periods each day, have been set aside for official business. Telegraphic correspondence has been maintained with the white house.

Intimations have come from the Pioneer as the party has cruised southward, that an announcement of the administration merchant marine policy might be made while the president is in Miami. Chairman Lasker of the shipping board is a member of the vacation party and announced on arrival at Ormond last Tuesday that he soon expected to discuss with the president ways and means of meeting the problem created by the defeat of the administration shipping bill.

The president attended church at Palm Beach yesterday.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A campaign for contributions to a $100,000 "freedom fund" with which the anti-saloon league of this state proposes to make itself independent of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Jr. and launched last night by William H. Anderson, superintendent of the league. Mr. Anderson said he intended to pour the prospective $100,000 into the pocket of the league's treasury which has been depleted by the withdrawal of the support real and "mythical" of the Rockefellers.

When the $100,000 is obtained, Mr. Anderson expressed a conviction that his organization would be "effectively and permanently independent of the hostile hired men of the philanthropically inclined friends of law and order."

Who don't want dingy film on teeth

This offers you a method millions now employ. It is used the world over—in some 50 countries—by people who want to fight film.

You see the results everywhere. New charm, new beauty comes from glistening teeth. Now we urge you to learn, by a delightful test, how such teeth are acquired.

Film—the great enemy

Film is the teeth's great enemy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why few escaped tooth troubles.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

So dental science sought ways to fight film, and in time found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film combatants were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Dentists the world over now advise its daily use.

Constant guardians

Pepsodent also creates constant guardians. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus it gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

'Twill delight you

The Pepsodent results will amaze and delight you. This test may change the whole dental history in your home.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will very soon convince you. And that is most important. Cut out coupon now.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Another effort is being made to bring together the two leaders in the state college conference cage race in a post-season series to settle the 1923 basketball championship. The two contenders are Nebraska Wesleyan and Peru Normal. Both teams went through the season without meeting defeat at the hands of a conference team.

Coach W. G. Speer of Peru Normal informed The Star Monday that he had mailed a challenge to Coach R. B. McCandless expressing the desire to meet the Methodists in a post season series.

Speer's challenge is chapter two in the state college controversy. A short time ago McCandless extended Speer an offer to schedule two games with the Bobcats. The Peru athletic authorities declined the invitation, claiming they would be forced to win both games to capture the title, maintaining an even break would give Wesleyan the better percentage.

Both Teams Undefeated.

"Both teams have gone through the conference race without a defeat and should meet for the title" says Coach Speer of Peru. "We feel that Wesleyan should be game and come through with this series. Last year they were anxious to have us play a post-season series and were willing to play as late as March 17. After they lost two games, of course the dispute over the championship was settled.

"One of the special reasons, along with our personal desire to see the series go through, is that almost the entire conference is agreed that there should be a play off for the title, as in football. As our team was the all-victorious champion of last year, we have the edge on Wesleyan as we are all-victorious again this season."

The Peru Challenge.

The text of the Peru Normal challenge to Wesleyan follows:

"Coach R. B. McCandless, Nebraska Wesleyan university, University Place, Nebraska.—Dear McCandless—I wish to congratulate you and your team upon your successful season in basketball.

"We, Peru State Teachers college, have completed another all-victorious season in basketball.

Since both Wesleyan and Peru have gone through the season without defeat in the Nebraska conference, we, Peru State Teachers college, challenge Nebraska Wesleyan university to a post-season series in basketball, one game on each home court, and in the case each team wins one game, a third to be played on a neutral floor. This series to be played before March 2?. Officials and playing conditions to be mutually agreed upon prior to the day of games. Cordially yours,

"W. G. SPEER
"Coach of Athletics P. S. T. C."

TY PERSISTS IN CLAIMING FLAG

Tigers' Pilot Confident His Team Will Lead Race In American League.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 12.—Manager Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers expects to win the American league pennant this year, yet recognizes the fact that New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns, who ran "one-two" in 1922, are just as strong as they were last season. He declines to express his belief as a prediction, but he honestly feels there is no team in the American league that can stop him.

Best Tiger Team In Years.

It is certainly true that not in a dozen years has a Detroit team started off with the promise of this year's outfit. Cobb can muster two complete baseball clubs and for every regular there is a substitute who can do almost as well as the man for whom he understudies.

By contrast, the Tigers were so weak in substitutes last year they could not afford to take a regular outfielder out of the game. At least two fly chasers who can hit .300 will be sitting on the bench during the coming campaign, and as far as the rest of the machine is concerned Cobb will hold four capable substitutes in readiness to fit in any any of the other positions.

Strong In Pitching Talent.

The pitching staff of 1922 was so mediocre that every man who started the season as a regular was a second-stringer by mid-season. This year he has a staff of veterans, with a crew of promising youngsters who look like the goods.

All in all, the Tigers figure to be fifty per cent stronger than in 1922. Two teams, the Yanks and Browns, finished in front of Detroit last year. Neither has been strengthened to any extent between seasons, while Cobb has materially increased the power of his club.

Hoover Back to Henley to Defend Diamond Sculls

DULUTH, Minn., March 12.—Walter Hoover of Duluth, world's champion amateur sculler, will defend the diamond sculls at the 1923 English regatta, it seemed certain today, as Hoover told an Associated Press correspondent that he would visit England again this year.

Amateurs Elect Officers Tonight

Annual election of officers by the Lincoln Amateur Baseball association is scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce. Team managers and players of the two local leagues in operation last season are urged to be present to take part in the choice of officers.

MASTERS OF CUE IN TITLE MATCH

Hoppe and Schaefer Complete in Balk-line Contest for Billiard Crown.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 12.—Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, challenger, have finished preparations for their match for the world's 18.2 balk line billiard championship, starting tonight in the grand ball room of the Hotel Pennsylvania. The match is to be played in three blocks of 500 points, one block each night.

Evolution of Balk-Line.

Charles C. Peterson of St. Louis, noted trick shot expert and an associate of Hoppe, has produced from his scrap books for the Associated Press the story of the evolution of the game since the first championship straight rail tournament on a 5 by 10 table was played in the United States in New York in June, 1873.

A French billiardist, Garnier, won that tournament with a grand average of seven. In November of the same year, the late Jacob Schaefer, father of the young marvel who meets Hoppe this year, lost to George F. Slosson in a championship match. Slosson had a high run of 45. The stars soon mastered the straight rail game and it was laid away on the shelf in 1890 when Schaefer defeated McCleery of San Francisco, 3,000 to 15 in a handicap game. Schaefer counted his 3,000 points in three blocks of 1,000, played succeeding nights without a miss. Schafer had perfected the "rail nurse" and it was said of him that he could have counted for years and years without a miss if he had had the strength.

So the balkline game was invented. The first balkline was eight inches from the cushions. As the players mastered the games the lines were extended to 10, 12 and 14 inches. Still it was easy. Then the 18.1 game was inaugurated but did not meet with favor and was abandoned temporarily and 14.1 adopted. Various sorts of handicaps were imposed.

Young Hoppe arrived about this time. Big runs were common. A noted billiardist named Parker introduced the anchor block, 3 1-2x7 inches for anchor spaces, to prevent the anchor nurse. Peterson then discovered a kiss nurse in the anchor territory showing that the posibilities of runs were unlimited. His shot, although not permitted in the rules, in that he did not pause between the counts, caused another change. Peterson made 1,000 counts in four minutes, 32 seconds on his kiss nurse shot.

Those who heard of this feat, scoffed at it and Peterson had to exhibit it several times. Then the anchor block dimensions were changed to seven by seven inches, such as is used today. In the first 18.2 balk line games with the anchor block five counts were allowed in anchor.

In 1906 in Paris, Hoppe won the 18.1 balk line championship of the world, defeating Vignaux and returned to the United States. Then competition for the world 18.2 championship was opened. Jake Schaefer held the title at that time. Hoppe was out of the game for a while during this time and the 18.2 title often changed hands Demarest, Schaefer, Sutton, Morningstar and Cline holding it alternately.

Soon it fell in the lap of the youthful Hoppe and he held it until 1921, when young Jake Schaefer took it from him and successfully defended it in a subsequent challenge match. Last year, Hoppe regained his title.

In the last five years, average and run records in championship 18.2 games have more than doubled.

Peterson perdicts that the time will come when 18.2 will become so easy for the stars hat another game, probably on the cushion-carom idea, will be introduced.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 12.—The Chicago Nationals made it two straight from the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast league when they took the second game of their exhibition series, 5 to 3, here Sunday. At the end of the eighth, the Tigers were leading 3 to 1, but in a ninth inning rally the Cubs counted four runs on three singles, two walks, an infield out and an error. The score:

Suzanne and Molla To Clash at Nice

(Associated Press.)

NICE, France, March 12.—Another opportunity for Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American champion, to meet Suzanne Lenglen, the world's champion, will be afforded in the Nice tennis championship tournament, which opens today.

Both Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen are in the upper half of the draw, and provided Mrs. Mallory succeeds in eliminating her opponents in the first three rounds, the former rivals should come together in the fourth round Thursday. There seems to be no idea that Mlle. Lenglen will not defeat all the players who face her.

SHINING STARS OF BASKET CARNIVAL

State Tournament Developed String of Brilliant Performers.

The thirteenth annual high school basketball tournament, which had its climax Saturday night in Lincoln, revealed a number of interscholastic performers worthy of special mention. Nearly every team had its main player about whom the team play centered. In a number of games, the success or failure of this particular player to perform up to standard meant victory or defeat to his team.

Vermillion, the Hastings star, is accorded by a majority of critics the distinction of being the best all-around player in the tournament. He was a stellar performer on the offense and defense. His speed on the court enabled him to form the pivot about which the Hastings team constructed all its play. It was Vermillion who started the plays on the offense and it was Vermillion that raced back to form the bulwark of the defense. He is a good shot at the basket and handy with the dribble.

Charnquist Tech's Mainstay.

Charnquist of Omaha Tech, while not so strong in defensive play, proved to be one of the most reliable point-makers possessed by a tourney team. A glance at the box scores of all Tech games shows what an important part Charnquist played in the victories scored by the new state champions. Against North Platte it was Charnquist who pulled the game out of the fire in the extra period. Against Creighton Prep, it was Charnquist's basket in the last fifteen seconds of play which cinched the victory and gave Tech the chance at a second championship trophy.

Good centers were rather scarce this year. Skelley of Creighton Prep seemed to have the best of the argument when it came to the pivot position. He is a good jumper, a dependable shot from the center of the court and quick to take advantage of the breaks.

Swanson and McIntyre.

For guards, Swanson of Tech and McIntyre of Lincoln seemed to be the best. Swanson distinguished himself in the final game. It was Swanson who formed the keystone of the Tech defense—a defense which denied Hastings a basket until just before the gun was fired ending the third quarter.

Swanson is a natural player. He showed this in the tourney games. Although hanging back to ward off any attempt to score on the part of the opposing five, he was quick to take advantage of a break and rush down the court to score.

McIntyre is the strongest defensive man on the Lincoln team. Throughout the season he has been Lincoln's main reliance in holding down the opposing score. He was always assigned the task of guarding the "dead shot" of Lincoln's opponents. McIntyre's success is shown in the record turned in by his team. He is also a good point-getter, excelling in efforts just outside the foul zone.

Brown Clever Forward.

Brown of Lincoln, at forward, has been the main scoring factor in the capital city lineup. He is clever at handling the ball and a hard man to guard. Marrow of Omaha Central is another heavy scorer. He is a good shot from the side angles.

Tilger of Hastings was a player uncovered by tournament play. Previous tales from the Hastings camp told little of Tilger's prowess, yet it was the lithe Tiger center who starred with Vermillion in making Hastings' place in the finals a certainty.

Monaghan of Creighton Prep was one of the leading guards of the tournament. He is a well built athlete who makes every movement count. He was a valuable man to Creighton from every standpoint, being a good shot at the hoop and a handy man to get the ball out of mixups beneath the basket.

Sprague of York Fine Guard.

Sprague, York guard, factored in the defeat of Lincoln, one of the tourney favorites. Against the capital city he played the game of his life, making scoring efforts miserable for the Lincoln forwards and slipping down the court to do a little scoring on his own hook.

But there are many other players worthy of mention. The list includes:

Forwards—Mack, Creighton Prep; Ramsey, Seward; Peterson, Nebraska Deaf; Ostbloom, York; Graham, South; Roland, Beatrice; Reynolds, Omaha Central; Willis, Sidney; Boyd, Valentine; Stoetzel, Scribner.

Centers—Shaner, North Platte; Percival, Omaha Central; Grosshans, York; Schwarz, Sutton; Bristel, Chappell; Manning, Geneva; Dailey, Alliance.

Guards—Smaha, Ravenna; Severns, Seward; Lawson, Central; P. Cunningham, Wahoo; Sinnett, Geneva; Brehm, Harvard; G. Wieland, Sutton.

Former Yank Boxer Hangs Kayoes On British Amateurs

LONDON, March 12.—Eddie Eagan, former Yale athlete and winner of an Olympic championship in boxing, scored two victories in the annual Oxford-Cambridge boxing contests here when he stopped D. A. Simpson, heavyweight, in the second round. An hour later, Eagan, representing Oxford in the light heavyweight class, knocked out S. F. Meikle in the second round.

Simpson is an American, a graduate of Groton school in Connecticut. In the bantamweight class, Dr. Clark, of Cambridge stopped F. W. Harrold a former University of Georgia man, in the second round.

Firpo vs. Brennan Tonight at Garden

NEW YORK, March 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of the Argentine Republic, put on the finishing touches yesterday in preparation for his 15-round fight with Bill Brennan in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The bout will make or break Firpo as a drawing card in the United States. If he wins there are some who say he will be the logical man to buck Jack Dempsey in a struggle for the world's championship belt. If he loses the sporting fraternity is wondering which ship he will take to Buenos Aires.

FIRPO CINCH TO WALLOP BRENNAN

Walsh Hints Cards Stacked for Triumph of Fighter From Argentine.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 12.—For no particular reason, except that the customers seem to want it, Bill Brennan and Luis Angel Firpo, the sad-faced gentleman from South America, will meet tonight in a 15-round bout and by the morrow it is presumed that the "only legitimate contender" for the heavyweight title will have been uncovered.

The candidate, of course, is the Senor, flat feet and all.

Brennan has nothing to live for, in a pugilistic sense. He was only a good second-rater at his best and those days have gone forever. However, no one can deny Bill the asset of experience and on his record alone he might have been figured to outstep a man of Firpo's limited resources.

But everything points to an opposite verdict.

Bill Resigned to Defeat.

Brennan no longer takes more than a passive interest in his profession and when he met Floyd Johnson some time ago, he was actually obese. He seemed resigned to the inevitable then and it is insinuated that he feels much the same way about the present issue. He can gain nothing by beating Firpo into a Latin semi-colon, while, on the other hand, Tex Rickard, Jack Kearns, Firpo himself and others can lose.

It is, therefore, to the best interest of the majority that nothing unseemly happens to the senor tonight. His flat feet can be forgiven, but never a pair of flat shoulder blades.

That would be a terrific backfire, now that Rickard has gone on record as naming Firpo as the greatest heavyweight in the world, barring Jack Dempsey.

LOS ANGELES, March 12—John A. Heydler, president of the National baseball league, said here last night he "did not believe there was anything more for him to say" concerning his recent announcement that Pitcher Benton, formerly with the New York Giants and the St. Paul club of the American association, would not be permitted to play in the Nationa league, although Baseball Commissioner Landis had declared Benton eligible to play in organized baseball.

"Any further developments in this case must come from the east," said Heydler.

WILL WATER HALF A MILLION ACRES

Supplemental Project May Take In Some Additional Land.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 12.—The Central Nebraska Supplemental Water association has undertaken to raise at once in Adams, Kearney and Phelps counties the sum of $2,500 asked for by the department of agriculture as co-operation in the federal survey now being made. It is believed the money will be quickly forthcoming.

The engineeers have determined the irrigable area to be 545,000 acres, on the basis of twelve inches of water per acre each year. The soil survey which is soon to be made will determine the amount of water needed. As the supplemental water is to make up the deficiency in rainfall it is the belief of the leaders in the project that the soil survey will show that much less than twelve inches of water is needed. If, as some believe, six or seven inches will be sufficient the irrigable area will be greatly increased. Kearney and Clay counties are asking to be included in the project and probably both will be admitted if the survey shows the area can be extended.

A. Lincoln Fellows, who will make the soil survey for the government, is expected here early this week.

Ku Klux Klansmen Invade Hastings

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 12.—The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan made their first public appearance in Hastings late Saturday, when four white robed and hooded but unmasked figures carrying a crimson banner bearing the name of the organization took up a position in the center of the business district and proceeded to distribute copies of a newspaper containing Ku Klux propaganda.

The men said they were citizens of Hastings but they were unknown to the police, to whom they refused to give their names.

A week ago a man who said he was a Klansman from Lincoln called on Mayor Stiner and inquired if there was an ordinance prohibiting Klansmen from appearing in public. The mayor said there was no such ordinance. The man asked if there would be objections to distributing their newspaper in Hastings. The mayor said he could see no objections, provided the newspaper was mailable.

The paper contained the announcement that the edition was printed for the Hastings Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

ANTIOCH HOUSES GO TO ALLIANCE

Former Potash Metropolis Loses Average of a Build-Per Day.

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., March 12.—A Greater Alliance committee has been formed in conjunction with the work of the Chamber of Commerce with the object of encouraging more building during coming months. The purpose of the movement is to make Alliance show the greatest building record in its history.

Over $700,000 was spent during 1922 in building operations in the city. This included new school buildings, railroad construction, homes and business blocks. In spite of this comparatively large record and the fact that more than fifty houses have been moved to the city from Antioch, sixteen miles east during recent months, there is still a shortage of desirable homes.

An average of a house per day for the past two months has been maintained in the movements of homes from Antioch to Alliance. The former potash city, if the movement continues, will eventually be annexed to this city more completely than though the usual procedure of annexation had been followed. One large residence, moved during the past week, required two huge tractors to haul it through the sandhills in which Antioch is situated. Six residences were moved to one 4,000 acre farm northwest of Alliance by the owners who wished homes for their tenants.

Another effort is being made to bring together the two leaders in the state college conference cage race in a post-season series to settle the 1923 basketball championship. The two contenders are Nebraska Wesleyan and Peru Normal. Both teams went through the season without meeting defeat at the hands of a conference team.

Coach W. G. Speer of Peru Normal informed The Star Monday that he had mailed a challenge to Coach R. B. McCandless expressing the desire to meet the Methodists in a post season series.

Speer's challenge is chapter two in the state college controversy. A short time ago McCandless extended Speer an offer to schedule two games with the Bobcats. The Peru athletic authorities declined the invitation, claiming they would be forced to win both games to capture the title, maintaining an even break would give Wesleyan the better percentage.

Both Teams Undefeated.

"Both teams have gone through the conference race without a defeat and should meet for the title," says Coach Speer of Peru. "We feel that Wesleyan should be game and come through with this series. Last year they were anxious to have us play a post-season series and were willing to play as late as March 17. After they lost two games, of course, the dispute over the championship was settled.

"One of the special reasons, along with our personal desire to see the series go through, is that almost the entire conference is agreed that there should be a play-off for the title, as in football. As our team was the all-victorious champion of last year, we have the edge on Wesleyan as we are all-victorious again this season."

The Peru Challenge.

The text of the Peru Normal challenge to Wesleyan follows:

"Coach R. B. McCandless, Nebraska Wesleyan university, University Place, Nebraska.—Dear McCandless—I wish to congratulate you and your team upon your successful season in basketball.

"We, Peru State Teachers college, have completed another all-victorious season in basketball,

Since both Wesleyan and Peru have gone through the season without defeat in the Nebraska conference, we, Peru State Teachers college, challenge Nebraska Wesleyan university o a post-season series in basketball, one game on each home court, and in the case each team wins one game, a third to be played on a neutral floor. This series to be played before March 24. Officials and playing conditions to be mutually agreed upon prior to the day of games. Cordially yours.

"W. G. SPEER.

TY PERSISTS IN CLAIMING FLAG

Tigers' Pilot Confident His Team Will Lead Race In American League.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 12.—Manager Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers expects to win the American league pennant this year, yet recognizes the fact that New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns, who ran "one-two" in 1922, are just as strong as they were last season. He declines to express his belief as a prediction, but he honestly feels there is no team in the American league that can stop him.

Best Tiger Team In Years.

It is certainly true that not in a dozen years has a Detroit team started off with the promise of this year's outfit. Cobb can muster two complete baseball clubs and for every regular there is a substitute who can do almost as well as the man for whom he understudies.

By contrast, the Tigers were so weak in substitutes last year they could not afford to take a regular outfielder out of the game. At least two fly chasers who can hit .300 will be sitting on the bench during the coming campaign, and as far as the rest of the machine is concerned Cobb will hold four capable substitutes in readiness to fit in any any of the other positions."

Strong In Pitching Talent.

The pitching staff of 1922 was so mediocre that every man who started the season as a regular was a second-stringer by mid-season. This year he has a staff of veterans, with a crew of promising youngsters who look like the goods.

All in all, the Tigers figure to be fifty per cent stronger than in 1922. Two teams, the Yanks and Browns, finished in front of Detroit last year. Neither has been strengthened to any extent between seasons, while Cobb has materially increased the power of his club.

MASTERS OF CUE IN TITLE MATCH

Hoppe and Schaefer Complete in Balk-line Contest for Billiard Crown.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 12.—Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, challenger, have finished preparations for their match for he world's 18.2 balk line billiard championship, starting tonight in the grand ball room of the Hotel Pennsylvania. The match is to be played in three blocks of 500 points, one block each night.

Evolution of Balk-Line.

Charles C. Peterson of St. Louis, noted trick shot expert and an associate of Hoppe, has produced from his scrap books for the Associated Press the story of the evolution of the game since the first championship straight rail tournament on a 5 by 10 table was played in the United States in New York in June, 1873.

A French billiardist, Garnier, won that tournament with a grand average of seven. In November of the same year, the late Jacob Schaefer, father of the young marvel who meets Hoppe this year, lost to George F. Slosson in a championship match. Slosson had a high run of 45. The stars soon mastered the straight rail game and it was laid away on the shelf in 1890 when Schaefer defeated McCleery of San Francisco, 3,000 to 15 in a handicap game. Schaefer counted his 3,000 points in three blocks of 1,000, played succeeding nights without a miss. Schafer had perfected the "rail nurse" and it was said of him that he could have counted for years and years without a miss if he had had the strength.

So the balkline game was invented. The first balkline was eight inches from the cushions. As the players mastered the games the lines were were extended to 10, 12 and 14 inches. Still it was easy. Then the 18.1 game was inaugurated but did not meet with favor and was abandoned temporarily and 14.1 adopted. Various sorts of handicaps were imposed.

Young Hoppe arrived about this time. Big runs were common. A noted billiardist named Parker introduced the anchor block, 31-2x7 inches for anchor spaces, to prevent the anchor nurse. Peterson then discovered a kiss nurse in the anchor territory showing that the posibilities of runs were unlimited His shot, although not permitted in the rules, in that he did not pause between the counts, caused another change. Peterson made 1,000 counts in four minutes, 32 seconds on his kiss nurse shot.

Those who heard of this feat, scoffed at it and Peterson had to exhibit it several times. Then the anchor block dimensions were changed to seven by seven inches, such as is used today. In the first 18.2 balk line games with the anchor block five counts were allowed in anchor.

In 1906 in Paris, Hoppe won the 18.1 balk line championship of the world, defeating Vignaux and returned to the United States. Then competition for the world 18.2 championship was opened. Jake Schaefer held the title at that time. Hoppe was out of the game for a while during this time and the 18.2 title often changed hands. Demarest, Schaefer, Sutton, Morningstar and Cline holding it alternately.

Soon it fell in the lap of the youthful Hoppe and he held it until 1921, when young Jake Schaefer took it from him and successfully defended it in a subsequent challenge match. Last year, Hoppe regained his title.

In the last five years, average and run records in championship 18.2 games have more than doubled.

Peterson perdicts that the time will come when 18.2 will become so easy for the stars that another game, probably on the cushion-carom idea, will be introduced.

Suzanne and Molla To Clash at Nice

(Associated Press.)

NICE, France, March 12.—Another opportunity for Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American champion, to meet Suzanne Lenglen, the world's champion, will be afforded in the Nice tennis championship tournament, which opens today.

Both Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen are in the upper half of the draw, and provided Mrs. Mallory succeeds in eliminating her opponents in the first three rounds, the former rivals should come together in the fourth round Thursday. There seems to be no idea that Mlle. Lenglen will not defeat all the players who face her.

SHINING STARS OF BASKET CARNIVAL

State Tournament Developed String of Brilliant Performers.

The thirteenth annual high school basketball tournament, which had its climax Saturday night in Lincoln, revealed a number of interscholastic performers worthy of special mention. Nearly every team had its main player about whom the team play centered. In a number of games, the success or failure of this particular player to perform up to standard meant victory or defeat to his team.

Vermillion, the Hastings star, is accorded by a majority of critics the distinction of being the best all-around player in the tournament. He was a stellar performer on the offense and defense. His speed on the court enabled him to form the pivot about which the Hastings team constructed all its play. It was Vermillion who started the plays on the offense and it was Vermillion that raced back to form the bulwark of the defense. He is a good shot at the basket and handy with the dribble.

Charnquist Tech's Mainstay.

Charnquist of Omaha Tech, while not so strong in defensive play, proved to be one of the most reliable point-makers possessed by a tourney team. A glance at the box scores of all Tech games shows what an important part Charnquist played in the victories scored by the new state champions. Against North Platte it was Charnquist who pulled the game out of the fire in the extra period. Against Creighton Prep, it was Charnquist's basket in the last fifteen seconds of play which cinched the victory and gave Tech the chance at a second championship trophy.

Good centers were rather scarce this year. Skelley of Creighton Prep seemed to have the best of the argument when it came to the pivot position. He is a good jumper, a dependable shot from the center of the court and quick to take advantage of the breaks.

Swanson and McIntyre.

For guards, Swanson of Tech and McIntyre of Lincoln seemed to be the best. Swanson distinguished himself in the final game. It was Swanson who formed the keystone of the Tech defense—a defense which denied Hastings a basket until just before the gun was fired ending the third quarter.

Swanson is a natural player. He showed this in the tourney games. Although hanging back to ward off any attempt to score on the part of the opposing five, he was quick to take advantage of a break and rush down the court to score.

McIntyre is the strongest defensive man on the Lincoln team. Throughout the season he has been Lincoln's main reliance in holding down the opposing score. He was always assigned the task of guarding the "dead shot" of Lincoln's opponents. McIntyre's success is shown in the record turned in by his team. He is also a good point-getter, excelling in efforts just outside the foul zone.

Brown Clever Forward.

Brown of Lincoln, at forward, has been the main scoring factor in the capital city lineup. He is clever at handling the ball and a hard man to guard. Marrow of Omaha Central is another heavy scorer. He is a good shot from the side angles.

Tilger of Hastings was a player uncovered by tournament play. Previous tales from the Hastings camp told little of Tilger's prowess, yet it was the lithe Tiger center who starred with Vermillion in making Hastings' place in the finals a certainty.

Monaghan of Creighton Prep was one of the leading guards of the tournament. He is a well built athlete who makes every movement count. He was a valuable man to Creighton from every standpoint, being a good shot at the hoop and a handy man to get the ball out of mixups beneath the basket.

Sprague of York Fine Guard.

Sprague, York guard, factored in the defeat of Lincoln, one of the tourney favorites. Against the capitol city he played the game of his life, making scoring efforts miserable for the Lincoln forwards and slipping down the court to do a little scoring on his own hook.

But there are many other players worthy of mention. The list includes:

Forwards—Mack, Creighton Prep; Ramsey, Seward; Peterson, Nebraska Deaf; Ostbloom, York; Graham, South; Roland, Beatrice; Reynolds, Omaha Central; Willis, Sidney; Boyd, Valentine; Stoetzel, Scribner.

Centers—Shaner, North Platte; Percival, Omaha Central; Grosshans, York; Schwarz, Sutton; Bristel, Chappell; Manning, Geneva; Dailey, Alliance.

Guards—Smaha, Ravenna; Severns, Seward; Lawson, Central; P. Cunningham, Wahoo; Sinnett, Geneva; Brehm, Harvard; G. Wieland, Sutton.

Simpson is an American, a graduate of Groton school in Connecticut. In the bantamweight class, Dr. Clark, of Cambridge stopped F. W. Harrold a former University of Georgia man, in the second round.

Firpo vs. Brennan Tonight at Garden

NEW YORK, March 12.—Luis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of the Argentine Republic, put on the finishing touches yesterday in preparation for his 15-round fight with Bill Brennan in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The bout will make or break Firpo as a drawing card in the United States. If he wins there are some who say he will be the logical man to buck Jack Dempsey in a struggle for the world's championship belt. If he loses the sporting fraternity is wondering which ship he will take to Buenos Aires.

FIRPO CINCH TO WALLOP BRENNAN

Walsh Hints Cards Stacked for Triumph of Fighter From Argentine.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 12.—For no particular reason, except that the customers seem to want it, Bill Brennan and Luis Angel Firpo, the sad-faced gentleman from South America, will meet tonight in a 15-round bout and by the morrow it is presumed that the "only legitimate contender" for the heavyweight title will have been uncovered.

The candidate, of course, is the Senor, flat feet and all.

Brennan has nothing to live for, in a pugilistic sense. He was only a good second-rater at his best and those days have gone forever. However, no one can deny Bill the asset of experience and on his record alone he might have been figured to outstep a man of Firpo's limited resources.

But everything points to an opposite verdict.

Bill Resigned to Defeat.

Brennan no longer takes more than a passive interest in his profession and when he met Floyd Johnson some time ago, he was actually obese. He seemed resigned to the inevitable then and it is insinuated that he feels much the same way about the present issue. He can gain nothing by beating Firpo into a Latin semicolon, while, on the other hand, Tex Rickard, Jack Kearns, Firpo himself and others can lose.

It is, therefore, to the best interest of the majority that nothing unseemly happens to the senor tonight. His flat feet can be forgiven, but never a pair of flat shoulder blades.

That would be a terrific backfire, now that Rickard has gone on record as naming Firpo as the greatest heavyweight in the world, barring Jack Dempsey.

"Any further developments in this case must come from the east," said Heydler.

WILL WATER HALF A MILLION ACRES

Supplemental Project May Take In Some Additional Land.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 12.—The Central Nebraska Supplemental Water association has undertaken to raise at once in Adams, Kearney and Phelps counties the sum of $2,500 asked for by the department of agriculture as co-operation in the federal survey now being made. It is believed the money will be quickly forthcoming.

The engineeers have determined the irrigable area to be 545,000 acres, on the basis of twelve inches of water per acre each year. The soil survey which is soon to be made will determine the amount of water needed. As the supplemental water is to make up the deficiency in rainfall it is the belief of the leaders in the project that the soil survey will show that much less than twelve inches of water is needed. If, as some believe, six or seven inches will be sufficient the irrigable area will be greatly increased. Kearney and Clay counties are asking to be included in the project and probably both will be admitted if the survey shows the area can be extended.

A. Lincoln Fellows, who will make the soil survey for the government, is expected here early this week.

Ku Klux Klansmen Invade Hastings

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., March 12.—The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan made their first public appearance in Hastings late Saturday, when four white robed and hooded but unmasked figures carrying a crimson banner bearing the name of the organization took up a position in the center of the business district and proceeded to distribute copies of a newspaper containing Ku Klux propaganda.

The men said they were citizens of Hastings but they were unknown to the police, to whom they refused to give their names.

A week ago a man who said he was a Klansman from Lincoln called on Mayor Stiner and inquired if there was an ordinance prohibiting Klansmen from appearing in public. The mayor said there was no such ordinance. The man asked if there would be objections to distributing their newspaper in Hastings. The mayor said he could see no objections, provided the newspaper was mailable.

The paper contained the announcement that the edition was printed for the Hastings Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

ANTIOCH HOUSES GO TO ALLIANCE

Former Potash Metropolis Loses Average of a Build-Per Day.

(Special to The Star.)

ALLIANCE, Neb., March 12.—A Greater Alliance committee has been formed in conjunction with the work of the Chamber of Commerce with the object of encouraging more building during coming months. The purpose of the movement is to make Alliance show the greatest building record in its history.

Over $700,000 was spent during 1922 in building operations in the city. This included new school buildings, railroad construction, homes and business blocks. In spite of this comparatively large record and the fact that more than fifty houses have been moved to the city from Antioch, sixteen miles east, during recent months, there is still a shortage of desirable homes

An average of a house per day for the past two months has been maintained in the movements of homes from Antioch to Alliance. The former potash city, if the movement continues, will eventually be annexed to this city more completely than though the usual procedure of annexation had been followed One large residence, moved during the past week, required two huge tractors to haul it through the sandhills in which Antioch is situated. Six residences were moved to one 4,000 acre farm northwest of Alliance by the owners who wished homes for their tenants.

New York Sugar.
NEW YORK, March 12.

SUGAR—The raw sugar market was firm and active early today with Cubas advancing to the basis of 5¼c cost and freight, equal to 7.40c for centrifugal. There were sale of about 150,000 bags of Cubas to operators and outport refiners and 30,000 bags of Porto Ricos to Philadelphia refiners.

The raw sugar futures market was firmer, reflecting the advance in the spot market and prices at one time showed net advance of 17 to 19 points under renewed trade and commission house buying. Realizing choked the upward movement just before midday and prices eased off several points from the best.

There was a better inquiry reported for refined but there was no change in prices which was quoted at 6.75@9.15c.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 12.

Wire trouble because of storms, and higher rates for all forms of monetary accommodations, served to lessen the volume of business in today's stock market, which nevertheless displayed quite strength. Sugar, equipment and steel shares were conspicuously strong. Sales approximated 775,000 shares.

Opening prices in today's stock market were reactionary in response to the large volume of week-end selling orders, some of the liquidation apparently being due to disturbances in the occupied sections of Germany. United States Steel advanced ⅛ on announcement of an increase of 373,213 tons in unfilled orders, but the independent steels lost ground. Canadian Pacific, Baldwin and some of the minor oils moved to higher ground, but American Locomotive, American Woolen and the Coppers were heavy.

In the first few minutes losses of ⅝ of a point or more were established by New York Central, Chicago, Northwestern, California Petroleum, Remington Typewriter and Schloss-Sheffield Steel, the last named dropping 2 points. Supporting orders soon made their appearance and prices again started upward. Gulf States steel canceled its early loss and advanced a point, while American Can, Pan-American B, Texas & Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, American Smelting and American Tobacco sold half to a point higher. Foreign exchanges opened steady, demand sterling selling around $4.70¾, and French francs around 6.05 cents.

Bullish demonstrations in sugars, motors, motor accessories and Market Street railway issues gave an appearance of buoyancy to those groups, but price changes in the balance of the list were generally inconsequential. Street railway, second preferred, was pushed 7 points, the prior preferred 10¼ and the preferred 5 while Mack Truck, South Porto Rican and Manati Sugars each sold 3½ points higher. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Although speculative interest appeared to be lagging, possibly because of the high money rates and the absence of any uniform movement among the representatives, the bulls managed to stage a demonstration in the equipment group after midday which carried American Locomotive up 3¼ points to 137¼, the highest score of the year. The Market Street Railway preferred issues extended their sensational advances, the second preferred gain 15¼, the prior preferred 11¼ and the preferred 10¼ points.

The closing was firm. Prices hardened still further in the late dealings upon a revival of speculative interest in the steel shares.

Probe List of Army Officers

Investigation Ordered Following Discovery of Names on Bootlegger's Roll.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Prohibition officials themselves must take whatever action appears necessary in connection with the discovery in a recent bootleg raid here of a list of Washington residents which included the names of several officials of the state department and many officers of the army, navy and marine corps.

After a preliminary inquiry today it was indicated that the state, war and navy departments would take no further step, but would regard each case as a personal matter between the man named and the probition enforcement authorities.

It was pointed out at all three departments there was nothing now in evidence to in any way incriminate those whose names were on the list.

Farm Bloc Upsets Committee Report On Osterman Bill

Once again, the farm bloc in the legislature showed its power Monday forenoon by upsetting the judiciary commission's action in reporting for indefinite postponemet of the Osterman bill to permit competition among common carriers by forbidding the state railway commission to fix minimum rates for their service.

Chairman Dysart of the judiciary committee defended its report and tried to convince the house that if a carrier wishes to reduce its rates voluntarily it can always get the railway commission's consent to do so, but his statement in this regard was challenged by Mr. Smith, his Douglas county colleague, and also by Mr. Beushausen.

Messrs. Garber, Gordon, Hyde, Rasch and Jacoby of the farm bloc all spoke in favor of putting the bill on general file. The assertion was made by Mr. Gordon that the corporations and the railway commission seemed to be offering the same arguments against it.

Without a roll call or standing division, the house voted by a large majority to put the bill on its calendar for consideration at a later time.

The act applies city councils in fixing rates of local utilities, as well as to the railway commission.

Fire at Monroe Not Incendiary

The fire on March 1 which destroyed five buildings at oMnroe, Neb., causing a loss of $25,000 was not of incendiary origin, according to Fire Marshal C. E. Hartford, who made a personal investigation. He said the fire probably started from combustion in a heap of sweeping compound in one of the stores.

Chaplain Warns of Possible Domination

SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 12—The yellow menace is not an absurdity in the eyes of Rev. Ralph J. Harrity, veteran o the world war and chaplain of Monohan Post, American Legion. Rev. Mr. Harrity, who also is pastor of the Grace Reformed church, here, believes that there is danger of world domination by the yellow race, or, if not the yellow race alone a combination of the yellow and brown races.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 12.

Wheat advanced today to the highest figures which May delivery has attained in the last two weeks. The advance was ascribed in a measure to purchase of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to be shipped to Europe. The close was firm, ⅛@¾c net higher, with May, $1.20¼@1.20⅜, and July $1.15⅛.

WHEAT—Rain and snow likely to benefit the domestic winter crop led to price declines in the wheat market today during the early dealing. The effect on values, however, was more or less offset by the fact that Liverpool quotations showed a slight advance, the result of a falling off in the volume of world shipments. Trade was light and the market easily influenced. Opening prices, which varied from the same as Saturday's finish to ¼c lower, with May $1.19@1.19¼ and July $1.14¼@1.14½, were followed by a general sag but then by a good rally.

Subsequently word that western Kansas and western Oklahoma had failed to receive any moisture of consequence led to an advance, and so, too, did evidence of better demand from Europe.

CORN—Corn and oats were firm in the absence of any aggressive selling. After opening unchanged to ⅛ to ⅜c higher, May 74⅝@74¾c, the corn market scored slight gains all around.

In later dealings, smallness of receipts was about counter-balanced by slowness of eastern demand. The close was steady, ⅜@⅝c net higher with may at 75c.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, May 44⅞@45c, and held near to the initial range.

PROVISIONS—Despite weakness of hogs values, provisions were upheld by the action of the corn market.

REPUBLICAN SOLON MAKES ATTACK ON GOVERNOR BRYAN

Special interests were charged with attempting to control the work of the Nebraska legislature, in a resolution which the republican caucus for the house of representatives adopted at its first meeting, held on the evening of New Year's day to select the officers for that branch. The resolution was presented by Mr. Lamb. It was understood at the time to be aimed chiefly at Representative T. R. Dysart of Omaha, then a candidate for speaker.

This expression by the republican caucus has never been withdrawn nor modified, and it still stands as the official sentiment of that body. But when Governor Bryan, in a statement given out last week, suggested that special interests were actively at work in the legislature to defeat repeal of the code law and pass the series of Dysart "just as good" bill instead, some of the g. o. p. members, forgetting the pronouncement of their own party organization, were greatly scandalized.

A statement in reply to Governor Bryan, purporting to have been drafted by Representative J. M. Pollard of Franklin county, has been given out by Chairman J. Reid Green of the caucus organization. Mr. Pollard was one of the republican legislators elected last year on the understanding that he would help to repeal the code. The statement indicates, however, that he is vexed at Governor Bryan and will vote for the Dysart bills to "revise" the code system but not to do away with it.

Roasts the Governor.

The document handed out by Mr. Green and imputed to Mr. Pollard declares that "Governor Bryan's statements and insinuations are willful, malicious falsehoods" whose purpose is "to deceive the people of Nebraska into believing that he is the people's champion, whereas he is proving himself to be nothing more than a cheap, daring political schemer." Just for good measure, it calls the governor 'an unscrupulous demagogue.'

A defense of Mr. Dysart, who drafted the bills in opposition to Governor Bryan's code repeal program, is included in the Pollard manifesto. The statement says that a special committee of five was named by the republican caucus to prepare these bills. Mr. Dysart was chairman of this committee and the only lawyer on it. He is also chairman of the judiciary committee, to which all bills dealing with the question of code repeal or amendment were referred.

This is the first time during the legislative session that Representative Pollard has been heard from, even to the extent of making a motion on the floor of the house. He says that he discussed the different bills with both republicans and democrats while he was at home ten days ago, and that they endorsed the Dysart bills in preference to those of Governor Bryan. These bills, he claims, will cut off more state employes than the governor's will.

The Caucus Declaration.

Following is the resolution which the republican caucus passed more than two months before Governor Bryan made his charge that special interests were trying to control legislative action:

"Whereas, the call for this caucus has been circulated and signed with the understanding that any act thereunder shall not be made binding upon any member, and

"Whereas, representatives of the electric light and telephone interests have been interviewing members of the legislature during the past thirty days or more for the purpose of controlling organization of the house and senate; therefore be it

Resolved, that no member of this caucus shall be deemed bound in any way by the action thereof should such member feel that corporate influences have prevailed in any way in the selection of nominees for any office or committee."

Had Reference to Dysart.

In its report of the caucus proceedings, published January 2, a Lincoln newspaper that is now boosting the Dysart code bills said:

"This was put in by the Howell men in order to preserve the right of independent action. The Howell men wanted to overturn the action of the Second district in selecting Dysart and Dyball, who are charged with being friendly to the electric light interests, for the committee on committees. An effort is expected to be made to get democratic votes to help in knocking out Dysart and Dyball."

Notwithstanding the resolution, Messrs. Dysart and Dyball retained their places on the committee on commitees, Mr. Dysart was made chairman of the judiciary committee and held Governor Bryan's code repeal bill back for six weeks after it was introduced in January. Mr. Dyball became chairman of the cities and towns committee, which killed Governor Bryan's bill allowing all cities and villages to establish and operate municipal utility plants, including coal yards, ice plants, and public markets.

coming more excited, finaly attacking the house in which the guard was quartered. On being attacked the soldiers fired, killing five Germans and wounding several.

More Troops Called.

Additional troops were ordered out and all civilians were ordered to return to their homes, but it was long after midnight before order was entirely restored.

One of the two men killed in the earlier shooting had boasted to friends recently, according to the French information, that he was preparing to kill a French officer.

Face Severe Penalties.

DUSSELDORF, March 12. — The Recklinghausen district today faced severe penalties for what was perhaps the most serious incident of the Franco-Belgian occupation—the killing at Buer of Lieutenant Coltin of the Chasseurs, and M. Joly, director of the Buer railroad station.

French officials indicated that Buer would be placed under what will amount to martial law, besides a fine of 100,000,000 marks. The persons who did the shooting have not been apprehended.

Poincare Leaves Paris.

PARIS, March 12—Premier Poincare, accompanied by Minister of Public Works LeTrocquer and a staff of experts left today for Brussels to attend the Franco-Belgian conference on the Ruhr.

The French believe that the surrender of Germany is merely a question of time and that the hour is approaching when France and Belgium must decide how they are to use their victory and what part Great Britain will play in the settlement.

MIDDLEWEST IN GRIP OF STORM

DES MOINES, March 12—Telephone and telegraph service in Iowa was practically suspended today by last nights heavy, wet snowstorm.

Wire company officials say that so far as communication facilities are concerned the storm was the most severe in years. Cities in the eastern half of the state were entirely cut off from the outside.

Cyclone Claims Three.

RICHMOND, Ky., March 12.—Three persons were killed, two fatally injured and a number seriously hurt by a cyclone which swept over a small section on the Madison-Fayette county border shortly before midnight.

Negro Killed.

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 12—James Burden, a negro, was killed and property damage estimated at $100,000 was done as a result of a storm which swept this section last night. Two houses in Greenwood were wrecked.

Wire service was badly crippled by the storm in the east, the local office of the Wetsern Union reporting that the storm had caused considerable damage to its lines in the east and south. Lincoln was cut off from New York, St. Louis and other points east and south early Monday morning.

City Briefs

Draws $25 Fine—Leonard Mims, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $25 and costs by Police Judge E. B. Chappell Monday morning. Mims pleaded guilty. The quartet was arrested Saturday night at 111 South Fifteenth street.

Want Flagmen—A formal complaint has been filed by the city of Superior with the railway commission, asking that the Burlington and Northwestern be required to maintain two flagmen on crossings in the busy section of town. The complaint is signed by Mayor William Keithley.

Files Protest.—Alma C. Rawlings has filed a protest with the city clerk against the creation of water district 47. The protest is made on the grounds that an assessment will be made against the petitioner's lot in Normal addition, and that this lot has already been assessed for that purpose. This matter was placed before the city council Monday afternoon.

Commission Hearing.—An informal hearing was held at the office of the railway commission Monday on complaints made that livestock shipped to Omaha is held up sometime for five to seven hours before being transferred to the yards in South Omaha. A. F. Stryker of the Omaha Livestock exchange and Superintendent E. C. Blundell of the M. and O. railroad were present.

CHANGES ELECTION.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 12.

Wire trouble because of storms, and higher rates for all forms of monetary accommodations, served to lessen the volume of business in today's stock market, which nevertheless displayed quite strength. Sugar, equipment and steel shares were conspicuously strong. Sales approximated 775,000 shares.

Opening prices in today's stock market were reactionary in response to the large volume of week-end selling orders, some of the liquidation apparently being due to disturbances in the occupied sections of Germany. United States Steel advanced ⅝ on announcement of an increase of 373,213 tons in unfilled orders, but the independent steels lost ground. Canadian Pacific, Baldwin and some of the minor oils moved to higher ground, but American Locomotive, American Woolen and the Coppers were heavy.

In the first few minutes losses of ¾ of a point or more were established by New York Central, Chicago, Northwestern, California Petroleum, Remington Typewriter and Schloss-Sheffield Steel, the last named dropping 2 points. Supporting orders soon made their appearance and prices again started upward. Gulf States Steel cancelled its early loss and advanced a point, while American Can, Pan-American B. Texas & Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, American Smelting and American Tobacco sold half to a point higher. Foreign exchanges opened steady, demand sterling selling around $4.70¾, and French francs around 6.05 cents.

Bullish demonstrations in sugars, motors, motor accessories and Market Street railway issues gave an appearance of buoyancy to those groups, but price changes in the balance of the list were generally inconsequential. Street railway, second preferred, was pushed 7 points, the prior preferred 10¼ and the preferred 5, while Mack Tuck, South Porto Rican and Manati Sugars each sold 3½ points higher. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Although speculative interest appeared to be lagging, possibly because of the high money rates and the absence of any uniform movement among the representative ares, the bulls managed to stage a demonstration in the equipment group after midday which carried American Locomotive up 3⅛ points to 137⅛, the highest figure of the year. The Market Street Railway preferred issues extended their sensational advances, the second preferred risin 15¼, the prior preferred 11⅛ and the preferred 10¼ points.

The closing was firm. Prices hardened still further in the late dealings upon a revival of speculative interest in the steel shares.

Probe List of Army Officers

Investigation Ordered Following Discovery of Names on Bootlegger's Roll.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Prohibition officials themselves must take whatever action appears necessary in connection with the discovery in a recent bootleg raid here of a list of Washington residents which included the names of several officials of the state department and many officers of the army, navy and marine corps.

After a preliminary inquiry today it was indicated that the state, war and navy departments would take no further step, but would regard each case as a personal matter between the man named and the probition enforcement authorities.

It was pointed out at all three departments there was nothing now in evidence to in any way incriminate those whose names were on the list.

Farm Bloc Upsets Committee Report On Osterman Bill

Once again, the farm bloc in the legislature showed its power Monday forenoon by upsetting the judiciary commission's action in reporting for indefinite postponemet of the Osterman bill to permit competition among common carriers by forbidding the state railway commission to fix minimum rates for their service.

Chairman Dysart of the judiciary committee defended its report and tried to convince the house that if a carrier wishes to reduce its rates voluntarily it can always get the railway commission's consent to do so, but his statement in this regard was challenged by Mr. Smith, his Douglas county colleague, and also by Mr. Beushausen.

Messrs Garber, Gordon, Hyde, Raasch and Jacoby of the farm bloc all spoke in favor of putting the bill on general file. The assertion was made by Mr. Gordon that the corporations and the railway commission seemed to be offering the same arguments against it.

Without a roll call or standing division, the house voted by a large majority to put the bill on its calendar for consideration at a later time.

The act applies city touncils in fixing rates of local utilities, as well as to the railway commission.

Fire at Monroe Not Incendiary

The fire on March 1 which destroyed five buildings at oMnroe, Neb., causing a loss of $25,000 was not of incendiary origin, according to Fire Marshal C. E. Hartford, who made a personal investigation. He said the fire probably started from combustion in a heap of sweeping compound in one of the stores.

Chaplain Warns of Possible Domination

SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 12—The yellow menace is not an absurdity in the eyes of Rev. Ralph J. Harrity, veteran o the world war and chaplain of Monohan Post, American Legion. Rev. Mr. Harrity, who also is pastor of the Grace Reformed church, here, believes that there is danger of world domination by the yellow race, or, if not the yellow race alone a combination of the yellow and brown races.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 12.

Wheat advanced today to the highest figures which May delivery has attained in the last two weeks. The advance was ascribed in a measure to purchase of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to be shipped to Europe. The close was firm, ½@1c net higher, with May, $1.20¼@1.20⅜, and July $1.15¼.

WHEAT—Rain and snow likely to benefit the domestic winter crop led to price declines in the wheat market today during the early dealing. The effect on values, however, was more or less offset by the fact that Liverpool quotations showed a slight advance, the result of a falling off in the volume of world shipments. Trade was light and the market easily influenced. Opening prices, which varied from the same as Saturday's finish to ⅜c lower, with May $1.19@1.19¼ and July $1.14¾@1.14½, were followed by a general sag but then by a good rally.

Subsequently word that western Kansas and western Oklahoma had failed to receive any moisture of consequence led to an advance, and so, too, did evidence of better demand from Europe.

CORN—Corn and oats were firm in the absence of any aggressive selling. After opening unchanged to ¼ to ⅜c higher, May 74⅝@75½c, the corn market scored slight gains all around.

In later dealings, smallness of receipts was about counter-balanced by slowness of eastern demand. The close was steady, ⅛@⅜c net higher with may at 75c.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, May 44⅞@45c, and held near to the initial range.

PROVISIONS—Despite weakness of hogs values, provisions were upheld by the action of the corn market.

REPUBLICAN SOLON MAKES ATTACK ON GOVERNOR BRYAN

Special interests were charged with attempting to control the work of the Nebraska legislature, in a resolution which the republican caucus for the house of representatives adopted at its first meeting, held on the evening of New Year's day to select the officers for that branch. The resolution was presented by Mr. Lamb. It was understood at the time to be aimed chiefly at Representative T. B. Dysart of Omaha, then a candidate for speaker.

This expression by the republican caucus has never been withdrawn nor modified, and it still stands as the official sentiment of that body. But when Governor Bryan, in a statement given out last week, suggested that special interests were actively at work in the legislature to defeat repeal of the code law and pass the series of Dysart "just as good" bill instead, some of the g. o. p. members, forgetting the pronouncement of their own party organization, were greatly scandalized.

A statement in reply to Governor Bryan, purporting to have been drafted by Representative J. M. Pollard of Franklin county, has been given out by Chairman J. Reid Green of the caucus organization. Mr. Pollard was one of the republican legislators elected last year on the understandng that he would help to repeal the code. The statement indicates, however, that he is vexed at Governor Bryan and will vote for the Dysart bills to "revise" the code system but not to do away with it.

Roasts the Governor.

The document handed out by Mr. Green and imputed to Mr. Pollard declares that "Governor Bryan's statements and insinuations are wilful, malicious falsehoods" whose purpose is "to deceive the people of Nebraska into believing that he is the people's champion, whereas he is proving himself to be nothing more than a cheap, daring political schemer." Just for good measure, it calls the governor 'an unscrupulous demagogue."

A defense of Mr. Dysart, who drafted the bills in opposition to Governor Bryan's code repeal program, is included in the Pollard manifesto. The statement says that a special committee of five was named by the republican caucus to prepare these bills. Mr. Dysart was chairman of this committee and the only lawyer on it. He is also chairman of the judiciary committee, to which all bills dealing with the question of code repeal or amendment were referred.

This is the first time during the legislative session that Representative Pollard has been heard from, even to the extent of making a motion on the floor of the house. He says that he discussed the different bills with both republicans and democrats while he was at home ten days ago, and that they endorsed the Dysart bills in preference to those of Governor Bryan. These bills, he claims, will cut off more state employes than the governor's will.

The Caucus Declaration.

Following is the resolution which the republican caucus passed more than two months before Governor Bryan made his charge that special interests were trying to control legislative action:

"Whereas, the call for this caucus has been circulated and signed with the understanding that any act thereunder shall not be made binding upon any member, and

"Whereas, representatives of the electric light and telephone interests have been interviewing members of the legislature during the past thirty days or more for the purpose of controlling organization of the house and senate; therefore be it

Resolved, that no member of this caucus shall be deemed bound in any way by the action thereof should such member feel that corporate influences have prevailed in any way in the selection of nominees for any office or committee."

Had Reference to Dysart.

In its report of the caucus proceedings, published January 2, a Lincoln newspaper that is now boosting the Dysart code bills said:

"This was put in by the Howell men in order to preserve the right of independent action. The Howell men wanted to overturn the action of the Second district in selecting Dysart and Dyball, who are charged with being friendly to the electric light interests, for the committee on committees. An effort is expected to be made to get democratic votes to help in knocking out Dysart and Dyball."

Notwithstanding the resolution, Messrs. Dysart and Dyball retained their places on the committee on commitees, Mr. Dysart was ade chairman of the judiciary committee and held Governor Bryan's code repeal bill back for six weeks after it was introduced in January. Mr. Dyball became chairman of the cities and towns committee, which killed Governor Bryan's bill allowing all cities and villages to establish and operate municipal utility plants, including coal yards, ice plants, and public markets.

Gompers Has Good Night; Is Improving

coming more excited, finaly attacking the house in which the guard was quartered. On being attacked the soldiers fired, killing five Germans and wounding several.

More Troops Called.

Additional troops were ordered out and all civilians were ordered to return to their homes, but it was long after midnight before order was entirely restored.

One of the two men killed in the earlier shooting had boasted to friends recently, according to the French information, that he was preparing to kill a French officer.

Face Severe Penalties.

DUSSELDORF, March 12. — The Recklinghausen district today faced severe penalties for what was perhaps the most serious incident of the Franco-Belgian occupation—the killing at Buer of Lieutenant Coltin of the Chasseurs, and M. Joly, director of the Buer railroad station.

French officials indicated that Buer would be placed under what will amount to martial law, besides a fine of 100,000,000 marks. The persons who did the shooting have not been apprehended.

Poincare Leaves Paris.

PARIS, March 12—Premier Poincare, accompanied by Minister of Public Works LeTrocquer and a staff of experts left today for Brussels to attend the Franco-Belgian conference on the Ruhr.

The French believe that the surrender of Germany is merely a question of time and that the hour is approaching when France and Belgium must decide how they are to use their victory and what part Great Britain will play in the settlement.

MIDDLEWEST IN GRIP OF STORM

DES MOINES, March 12—Telephone and telegraph service in Iowa was practically suspended today by last nights heavy, wet snowstorm.

Wire company officials say that so far as communication facilities are concerned the storm was the most severe in years. Cities in the eastern half of the state were entirely cut off from the outside.

Cyclone Claims Three.

RICHMOND, Ky., March 12.—Three persons were killed, two fatally injured and a number seriously hurt by a cyclone which swept over a small section on the Madison-Fayette county border shortly before midnight.

Negro Killed.

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 12—James Burden, a negro, was killed and property damage estimated at $100,000 was done as a result of a storm which swept this section last night. Two houses in Greenwood were wrecked.

Wire service was badly crippled by the storm in the east, the local office of the Wetsern Union reporting that the storm had caused considerable damage to its lines in the east and south. Lincoln was cut off from New York, St. Louis and other points east and south early Monday morning.

City Briefs

Draws $25 Fine—Leonard Mims, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $25 and costs by Police Judge E. B. Chappell Monday morning. Mims pleaded guilty. The case against James Thompson, colored, charged with the same offense, was taken under advisement. Daisy Williams and Rosa Jackson, colored, pleaded guilty to the same complaint and were paroled. The quartet was arrested Saturday night at 111 South Fifteenth street.

Want Flagmen—A formal complaint has been filed by the city of Superior with the railway commission, asking that the Burlington and Northwestern be required to maintain two flagmen on crossings in the busy section of town. The complaint is signed by Mayor William Keithley.

Files Protest.—Alma C. Rawlings has filed a protest with the city clerk against the creation of water district 47. The protest is made on the grounds that an assessment will be made against the petitioner's lot in Normal addition, and that this lot has already been assessed for that purpose. This matter was placed before the city council Monday afternoon.

Commission Hearing.—An informal hearing was held at the office of the railway commission Monday on complaints made that livestock shipped to Omaha is held up sometime for five to seven hours before being transferred to the yards in South Omaha. A. F. Stryker of the Omaha Livestock exchange and Superintendent E. C. Blundell of the M. and O. railroad were present.

CHANGES ELECTION.

A bill was passed by the house Monday afternoon to elect county commissioners in Lancaster and Douglas counties by districts, instead of the entire county.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

Children born on this date come under the sign of Pisces which sign governs the feet. It is well for parents of such children to see that they have a regular spending allowance when they are old enough to use money and that this allowance covers certain clearly indicated expenses. The future usefulness of these children will be seriously impaired unless they are taught the value of money.

People of this date are usually full-faced with placid sleepy eyes and are apt to be round-shouldered.

They will find their most congenial companions and friends those born under Virgo and Capricorn.

Watch The Star Want Ads carefully the following weeks for good positions as clerks, mechanics and travelers.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

Children born on this date come under the sign of Pisces which sign governs the feet. It is well for parents of such children to see that they have a regular spending allowance when they are old enough to use money and that this allowance covers certain clearly indicated expenses. The future usefulness of these children will be seriously impaired unless they are taught the value of money.

People of this date are usually full-faced, with placid sleepy eyes and are apt to be round-shouldered.

They will find their most congenial companions and friends those born under Virgo and Capricorn.

Watch The Star Want Ads carefully the following weeks for good positions as clerks, mechanics and travelers.

Selling Lincoln To Lincoln

Mr. Loyal and Mr. Seldon sat across the table from each other at the Motary club luncheon.

"Well, I sold the 'Lincoln for Lincoln' idea to my grocer, and I didn't have any trouble doing it either," said Mr. Seldon with an air of satisfaction.

"That's great," replied Mr. Loyal enthsiastically. "This thing is going over like a top. If we can get every member of this club chucked full of the idea of 'Lincoln for Lincoln' and get them all actualy practicing what they have been talking about we will have a good start. The other clubs will no doubt do the same things. If we can get the women of the city to cooperate with us that will be the big stroke that will spell 'victory.' It requires no stretch of imagination to see how once the movement gets going it will spread over Lincoln like wildfire."

"I'm for you, and I'm for your idea," said Hilderson, the automobile dealer, "but I am having a hard time to convince my own family. I explained the idea of neighborly cooperation as carefully as I could, but my wife keeps on using the same brands of groceries that she has always been using."

"My daughter, Jane, is coming home next week and I wonder how she will take to the Lincoln idea. She is a specialist in home economics, and of course, whatever she says about foods will be law at our place."

(To Be Continued.)

Increase In Activity In Many Lines of Business Marks Coming of Spring

A general increase of activities in most lines of industry characterizes the early part of March. Even those businesses that must of necessity remain fairly steady the year round are now getting their plans for expansion into definite form.

The growth of the city can be measured to a large extent by the extension of gas and electric lines. The Lincoln Gas and Electric company is planning a considerable expansion this season. J. E. Hill, manager, said that extension in Lincoln is going on all the time, but this year his company plans to expend from two hundred and fifty to three hundred thousand dollars in Lincoln above its normal extension. This will be for both the gas and electric departments. It will also build high tension lines between here and Beatrice to furnish electric service to the towns and country along the line. All of this extension calls for an expansion of the plant. A new turbine, coal and ash handling equipment and new boilers are being installed in the electric department, and in the gas department a new ten-foot gas set is to be installed.

Trade is picking up in the baking industry according to R. L. Bennett of the Bennett Bake shop. There is always less home baking in warm weather than in cold and the first balmy days of spring have already increased the business of professional bakers. The difference is not noticeable in bread, however, for the great majority of homes rely upon bakeries for their bread the year round. Cookies are "best sellers" in the line of baked goods.

Mr. Bennett said that he looked for flour to go up on account of poor prospects for a wheat crop in Nebraska. It was so dry last fall that many farmers could not work the ground and put in their wheat till late. Then the frost overtook some of it before it had sprouted. Of course, the Nebraska wheat crop will not affect the market as much as Minnesota and some of the other states that raise more wheat, but Mr. Bennett thinks that whatever the crop may be in other states the shortage in Nebraska cannot fail to be felt. Sugar has gone up $3 a hundred in the past thirty days in spite of the fact that there is plenty of sugar on the market.

Dick Westover of the Modern Cleaners said that the cleaning and repairing business is better just before Easter because people are trying to make their old clothes do till Easter. Business is better this year than last year. Mr. Westover said people seem to have bought more new clothes last spring. This spring they are more saving and are having their old clothes cleaned and repaired instead of buying new. He attributes this to the fact that a great many people working for a salary or wages had a reduction during the past year. While most businesses are more prosperous this spring then they have been for some time, the prosperity has not had time to affect wages. The busiest seasons of the year in the cleaning and repair business are spring and fall. Extra help always has to be employed at these times.

Try this wonderful Spring blood tonic

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine for that tired feeling, caused by thick, impure blood. Hood's makes you feel better, eat and sleep better, and "makes food taste good." After the inactivity and close indoor confinement of winter it is especially hard for the sluggish system to combat disease germs.

Hood's Sarsaparilla restores to the blood those properties which help to repel germs of grippe, influenza, fevers and other ailments. It gently stimulates and refreshes weary people who feel run-down.

It has given satisfaction to three generations. Get a bottle today.

Selling Lincoln To Lincoln

Mr. Loyal and Mr. Seldon sat across the table from each other at the Motary club luncheon.

"Well, I sold the 'Lincoln for Lincoln' idea to my grocer, and I didn't have any trouble doing it either," said Mr. Seldon with an air of satisfaction.

"That's great," replied Mr. Loyal enthsiastically. "This thing is going over like a top. If we can get every member of this club chucked full of the idea of 'Lincoln for Lincoln' and get them all actualy practicing what they have been talking about we will have a good start. The other clubs will no doubt do the same things. If we can get the women of the city to cooperate with us that will be the big stroke that will spell 'victory.' It requires no stretch of imagination to see how once the movement gets going it will spread over Lincoln like wildfire."

"I'm for you, and I'm for your idea," said Hilderson, the automobile dealer, "but I am having a hard time to convince my own family. I explained the idea of neighborly cooperation as carefully as I could, but my wife keeps on using the same brands of groceries that she has always been using."

"My daughter, Jane, is coming home next week and I wonder how she will take to the Lincoln idea. She is a specialist in home economics, and of course, whatever she says about foods will be law at our place."

Increase In Activity In Many Lines of Business Marks Coming of Spring

A general increase of activities in most lines of industry characterizes the early part of March. Even those businesses that must of necessity remain fairly steady the year round are now getting their plans for expansion into definite form.

The growth of the city can be measured to a large extent by the extension of gas and electric lines. The Lincoln Gas and Electric company is planning a considerable expansion this season. J. E. Hill, manager, said that extension in Lincoln is going on all the time, but this year his company plans to expend from two hundred and fifty to three hundred thousand dollars in Lincoln above its normal extension. This will be for both the gas and electric departments. It will also build high tension lines between here and Beatrice to furnish electric service to the towns and country along the line. All of this extension calls for an expansion of the plant. A new turbine, coal and ash handling equipment and new boilers are being installed in the electric department, and in the gas department a new ten-foot gas set is to be installed.

Trade is picking up in the baking industry according to R. L. Bennett of the Bennett Bake shop. There is always less home baking in warm weather than in cold and the first balmy days of spring have already increased the business of professional bakers. The difference is not noticeable in bread, however, for the great majority of homes rely upon bakeries for their bread the year round. Cookies are "best sellers" in the line of baked goods.

Mr. Bennett said that he looked for flour to go up on account of poor prospects for a wheat crop in Nebraska. It was so dry last fall that many farmers could not work the ground and put in their wheat till late. Then the frost overtook some of it before it had sprouted. Of course, the Nebraska wheat crop will not affect the market as much as Minnesota and some of the other states that raise more wheat, but Mr. Bennett thinks that whatever the crop may be in other states the shortage in Nebraska cannot fail to be felt. Sugar has gone up $3 a hundred in the past thirty days in spite of the fact that there is plenty of sugar on the market.

Dick Westover of the Modern Cleaners said that the cleaning and repairing business is better just before Easter because people are trying to make their old clothes do till Easter. Business is better this year than last year. Mr. Westover said people seem to hove bought more new clothes last spring. This spring they are more saving and are having their old clothes cleaned and repaired instead of buying new. He attributes this to the fact that a great many people working for a salary or wages had a reduction during the past year. While most businesses are more prosperous this spring then they have been for some time, the prosperity has not had time to affect wages. The busiest seasons of the year in the cleaning and repair business are spring and fall. Extra help always has to be employed at these times.

Chats With Your Gas Man

IN THE RUSH for the almighty dollar, Americans forget the blessings they enjoy," says "Uncle Joe" Cannon, veteran statesman of national reputation.

"Just see what we enjoy today in life's comforts and conveniences! Look at the revolutionary changes gas and electricity and the other public utility services have wrought. These are the happy days, but so few of us realize it.
